HUNDREDS BATTLE SOUTHLAND FIRES

New England Swept By Blizzard

DAMAGE IN EAST HEAVY

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(UP)—One of the worst snow and sleet storms of the generation lashed the eastern seaboard today, killing scores in automobile accidents and crippling such cities as New York, Boston, Hartford, Conn., Albany and Buffalo.

In upper New York state, more than 10 inches of snow had fallen and the temperature had dropped to eight degrees below zero in the Adirondacks.

Heavy Snows
The storm, which started Thanksgiving day and gathered momentum during the night, extended from Georgia—where snow flurries and freezing temperatures were reported—to New England, where more than a foot of snow fell.

New England reported 14 deaths attributable to the storm, eastern Pennsylvania 8, upstate New York 11, New York City 4, Indiana 2, and Georgia, Alabama and Arkansas, 1 each.

Throughout most of the storm area, the skies cleared today but the high winds which lashed the coast continued in places.

The Eastern Steamship Lines' freighter Falmouth, with a crew of 30, went aground off Eaton's Neck in Long Island sound. An unidentified freighter was aground on Greens Reef a mile off New York, N. Y.

Ships Pounded
Ships in the harbor were pounded by billowing seas. The freighter Falmouth of the Eastern Steamship Lines went aground off Eaton's Neck, Long Island, at 3:55 a. m. and set out on S. O. S. She was reported to be taking water.

PIONEER SOUTHLAND BARRISTER CALLED

An outstanding barrister of Southern California for many years, Robert Young, 80, reported to be the first city attorney and incorporator of Hollywood and Inglewood, died at his home at 246 Cypress street, Long Beach, yesterday.

Mr. Young, a native of Canada, had his legal training at the University of Michigan where he graduated in 1883. In 1898 he qualified and was admitted as counselor to the United States supreme court.

For the past 43 years he had been a prominent elder in the Presbyterian church, serving as a permanent member of the judicial commission of the church, the highest honors that can be conferred on a layman. For 25 years he was treasurer and member of the Los Angeles Presbyteries extension board of Southern California.

At the time of his death he was a member of the Community Presbyterian church of Laguna Beach. Until his death he was the oldest worshipful master of Hollywood Lodge, F. and A. M. and was a Knights Templar.

Mr. Young is survived by the widow, Mrs. Frances Upson Young, of Laguna Beach; one son, Clarence Young, of Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Salazar, of Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Community Presbyterian church with the Rev. Raymond I. Brahams, pastor, officiating. Burial will be made at Rose Hill Memorial park, Whittier.

NEW DISTRICT ATTORNEY AND SHERIFF APPOINT DEPUTIES

District Attorney-elect George Holden of Anaheim, and Sheriff-elect J. L. Elliott of Santa Ana, said today they have not yet completed the list of deputy appointments they expect to make in advance of taking office next January 3, but both announced partial lists of appointees.

Plummer Bruns, Santa Ana city councilman and manager of a hardware firm, will be under-sheriff, succeeding Fred Wilbur. Former Sheriff Sam Jernigan will be chief civil deputy, a post also filled at present by Wilbur. Robert H. Sandon, who has been investigator for the district attorney's office under several administrations, will move across the street to become chief criminal deputy in the sheriff's office, succeeding Merle Dean, who recently resigned from the Jackson administration, and Herman J. Zabel, temporarily acting as chief criminal deputy.

Purge Death Toll Mounts

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—(UP)—The police round-up of Jews gained momentum today coincident with a new wave of Jewish suicides and a reported government plan to dissolve Aryan-Jewish marriages.

About 300 Jews were arrested in Vienna. Most of these were Jews without nationality or Polish and Roumanian Jews whose citizenship was not recognized.

Many Die
Reports in Vienna said that more than 70 Jews had died as a consequence of the new law on fortunes of over $2000. The deaths were attributed to suicide, shock and other causes.

A well-informed source in Berlin understood that one of the next anti-Jewish measures would be a law virtually forcing the dissolution of all Aryan-Jewish marriages.

The law would make divorce for the Aryans easy, instructing courts to grant Aryan divorces from Jews merely upon application.

The decree would place all Aryans, who did not take advantage

FRANCE, ENGLAND TO UNITE FOR DEFENSE

PARIS, Nov. 25.—(UP)—France and Great Britain agreed today on a unified military defense, and on a common attitude toward the Spanish war and other questions relating to European appeasement.

When Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary, Viscount Halifax left for London, they announced that a harmony of policies had been attained in talks with Premier Edouard Daladier.

However, it appeared that the three-day visit had failed to advance any concrete solution for the important problems confronting war fearing and crisis weary Europe.

Approve Pact
The principal consequences of the talks were:

1.—Britain gave her warm approval to Franco-German rapprochement and to the "no more war" declarations which both Paris and Berlin have approved.

2.—At the insistence of the French, Britain abandoned for the time being the granting of belligerent rights to Nationalist Spain. After Chamberlain's return to London he will attempt through

New Education System Attacked

BURBANK, Nov. 25.—Public efforts to discuss open charges that Burbank students are not receiving necessary training in fundamental subjects will be conducted in all Burbank schools within the next few weeks.

Five of these meetings will be held at the high school Monday night, at which parents have been invited to express opinions on the value of the progressive education system inaugurated seven years ago. Educators will be present to answer questions relative to the new-type curriculum and teaching methods.

Whether the progressive education system is neglecting basic mathematics, grammar, spelling and composition was questioned last week at a mass meeting of parents sponsored by the Burbank P. T. A. Council.

been Jackson's head jailer, will remain in that capacity under Elliott, it is announced. Whether any other Jackson deputies will remain is not known, but rumor has reported that Zabel would remain as head of the identification bureau, a post he has held under the three sheriffs, C. E. Jackson, Sam Jernigan and Logan Jackson.

It also has been rumored that Miss Ruth Boose, who has been Elliott's office deputy as constable, would go to the sheriff's office in a similar capacity.

Where Raging Brush Fire Sweeps All In Its Path

Flames sweep skyward over a wide area in this dramatic picture of one of two forest fires which raged out of control near Los Angeles, sweeping hundreds of homes and week-end cabins in their path. Damage was counted into millions from the blaze and hundreds narrowly escaped with their lives.

HOWARD TRIAL SET FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Twice postponed, the trial of Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard, of Santa Ana, Ernest Winbiger, Santa Ana, and 11 other defendants accused by the federal government of conspiring to smuggle lottery tickets across the border from Mexico, is scheduled to start next Tuesday morning in federal district court, Los Angeles.

Attorneys S. B. Kaufman, of Anaheim, former Orange county district attorney; Joe C. Burke, of Santa Ana, former U. S. district attorney; and Russell Graham, former assistant of Burke in that office, will defend Chief Howard and Winbiger, as well as three other defendants: C. W. Hutchings, of

LATE BULLETINS

PARIS, Nov. 25.—(UP)—The General Labor Federation ordered a nation-wide 24-hour general strike today in protest against the government's economy decrees and suspension of the 40-hour week.

The strike call was for next Wednesday. The government, determined to ensure normal functioning of all public utilities and public services, planned to mobilize sufficient trained troops or to draft workers to keep vital services running.

The Nationalist Council of Railway Workers voted for the strike even before the federation ordered it.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 25.—(UP)—President Roosevelt said today that relief rolls cannot undergo an immediate cut in proportion to recent employment increases.

The President's observation came during an outdoor press conference when he was asked to comment on department of labor statistics showing 900,000 persons had been rehired by private industry since June and that payrolls also had increased.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Further hearing of charges that two state employees used their positions to obtain $1,000,000 worth of oil leases in the Wilmington, and Huntington Beach tidelands were started today before the state personnel board.

Carl E. Sturzenacker, suspended chief of the state division of lands, and his subordinate, Arthur H. Alexander, petroleum production inspector, are the accused pair.

PROPOSE PLAN TO INCREASE CITRUS FRUIT CONSUMPTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Representatives of organized retailers proposed a broad plan today to increase consumption and assure fair profits to growers and handlers of this year's record breaking orange and grapefruit crops.

The suggested plan, designed to encourage marketing of the crop, was drafted after a conference among retailers, wholesalers, shippers and growers and representatives of the department of agriculture on the situation.

Reduced Costs
The program calls for reduction of handling and distribution costs, and development of methods to increase consumption. It was approved unanimously by the National Association of Retail Grocers, Voluntary Groups Institute, Cooperative Food Distributors of America, National Association of Food Chains, and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company.

To reduce handling and distribution costs, the retailers proposed:

- 1.—A Maximum mark-up of 25 per cent above cost (20 per cent on sales prices) with a minimum that will not violate state anti-loss leader laws.
- 2.—Establishment of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace's proposal to reduce transportation rates with assurances that savings will be passed to consumers.
- 3.—Reduction of packing costs.
- 4.—Eliminate Poor Fruit
- 5.—That government and grow-

County, Olson Sued by District

Governor-Elect Culbert L. Olson and the county of Orange both were sued today by the Orange County Flood Control District in an action to condemn four parcels of ground along Santa Ana river, required for levee construction work.

The complaint, filed through the district attorney's office, involves a strip aggregating slightly more than six acres, of which the flood control district asks immediate possession. It is located in the West Orange area. Governor-elect Olson was included among the defendants because of a claim he may have for legal fees as counsel for Mrs. Catherine Leslie, former owner of one of the parcels.

The governor-elect represented Mrs. Leslie and the late Charles C. Leslie in a suit through which the Federal Finance company, of Santa Ana, won a mortgage foreclosure against the Leslie ranch.

Title to the four parcels rests in Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bollinger, of Orange, the Federal Finance company, the Restop Realty company, and J. E. Parker.

State Relief Chief Quits Post

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UP)—Harold Pomeroy, state relief administrator for the past two and one half years, today tendered his resignation to Gov. Frank F. Merriam, effective at the close of Merriam's term of office.

Pomeroy said he had no immediate plans for the future but desired to engage in either low cost housing or socialized medical activities.

Butterflies In Annual Invasion

ASILOMAR, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UP)—Big orange and black monarch butterflies arrived here today on their annual pilgrimage from the Canadian Rockies.

For as far back as the oldest residents can remember the butterflies have arrived on schedule at this season of the year. They spend the winter swarming only in pine trees.

CATHOLICS LAUNCH EDUCATION PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(UP)—The Catholic hierarchy of the United States, acting under a mandate of Pope Pius XI, today announced an educational program for 3,000,000 Catholic students to help make America a democratic citadel "at a turning point in the history of the world."

The program, reflecting a counter-offensive against totalitarian trends in other nations, was announced by Denis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia as spokesman for the archbishops and bishops of the Catholic church in the United States.

Alarmed
Cardinal Dougherty said the Catholic hierarchy is alarmed at the spread of subversive teaching and action in the United States—at proclamations and programs "which if translated into action would destroy all that is just and ennobling in liberty loving America."

Designed to align the resources of Catholic educational institutions in a drive to foster the precepts of democracy, the program carries out the injunction of the Holy Father as expressed in a pontifical audience.

25 Shopping Days Till Christmas

LOOKING BACK TO CHRISTMAS 25 YEARS AGO—Churches were worried about whether they ought to advertise or put signs on their buildings. . . . Your boy wanted a Maccano set, or a pair of dogskin gauntlets. . . . Long stockings and voluminous knee-length skirts were the vogue on Florida beaches. . . . Elihu Root won the Nobel Peace Prize. . . . Dr. Anna Howard Shaw was putting "Votes for Women" before Woodrow Wilson.

SAN BERNARDINO WATER SUPPLY IS THREATENED

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UP)—A forest fire which has raged on the south slopes of the San Bernardino mountains for three days, was sweeping through Devil's canyon today, menacing wells providing the bulk of this city's water, and the huge experimental nursery of the U. S. forest service.

Reports that the flames were nearing Pinecrest and Crestline, where more than 5000 cabins are situated, were discounted by Dispatcher Charles D. Plummer, who said that conditions along the crest of the mountains were quite favorable.

Wind Shifts
Early today the blaze jumped the rim-of-the-world highway at Horseshoe Bend, and headed toward Arrowhead highlands, but a change of wind gave exhausted fire fighters a chance to hold it.

Plummer said reports of immediate danger to Crestline undoubtedly arose from the fact that all residents of Sky Forest, Skyland and Horseshoe Bend were forced to evacuate by forestry officials last night. Residents of Crestline were told to stay up all night, but were not sent from their homes.

$2,000,000 Damage
It was estimated that the fire has destroyed property valued at close to $2,000,000, including the famed Arrowhead Springs hotel at the foot of the mountains, in searing some 5000 acres of brush and heavy timber.

At its lower reaches, the fire destroyed 16 homes on the north side of San Bernardino, and indirectly cost one life, that of Mrs. R. F. O'Brien who was killed in an automobile crash when her vision was obstructed by the heavy pall of smoke.

In Devil's Canyon, where the fire fighters were making a desperate attempt to save the city's wells, fears were expressed for the experimental nursery where seedling pines and firs have been raised for years for reforestation purposes.

Hundreds Battle
Nearly 300 men, including CCC youths and students from the Sherman Indian school, were battling the blazes, aided by 15 fire trucks and countless gasoline tank trucks which had been emptied of their contents and refilled with water.

Supervisors and rangers from a half dozen national forests of California were flown here to direct the crews.

The two main highways leading into the mountains, a recreational area visited by 2,000,000 persons yearly, were closed to traffic, leaving the road from Lake Arrowhead to the Mojave desert the only means of egress. Lake Arrowhead, some 12 miles to the east of Horseshoe Bend, was not believed in danger.

FIRE FIGHTERS CHECK SANTA MONICA BLAZE
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Backfires, aided by more favorable winds, today were gradually bringing under control a disastrous fire in the brush-covered Santa Monica mountains which early today crept into the upper reaches of Mandeville canyon and for a time menaced the homes of film folk living nearby.

The weary fire-fighters were making a veritable "last stand" against the blaze which has seared more than 10,000 acres and destroyed possibly 600 cabins in its relentless march.

Fire Chief Ralph J. Scott, whose city forces have been aided by CCC youths, expressed hope that another 48 hours would see the blaze controlled on all fronts if favorable winds continued.

Near-disaster overtook a score of fire-fighters in Sullivan Canyon early today when a sudden 30-mile wind sent a backfire out of control. Two pumping engines and tractors managed to swing the blaze into burned over areas.

Nearly 1000 men, half of them concentrated in Mandeville canyon, covered the 40-square mile

"FOOLS RUSH IN" DEFENDANTS PETITION COURT FOR RELEASE

With defendants in the pamphlet conspiracy case objecting to the filing of an information in superior court on the ground that they were improperly held for trial, attorneys for G. F. McKelvey, suspended deputy sheriff accused in the case, today were preparing to petition superior court for his release on a writ of habeas corpus.

Former District Attorney and superior court. Ellis was overruled by Judge James L. Allen, who permitted the information to be filed, saying that the question whether it was sufficient and the court has jurisdiction, which Ellis denied, should be settled at a later proceeding. The information must be filed within 15 days of the preliminary hearing, but the defendants need not be arraigned at that period, he said. Ellis declared he would object to any arraignment at any time on an insufficient information.

2 MEN DRIVERS HELD BY POLICE

Two men were arrested over Thanksgiving on drunk driving charges filed by Santa Ana police after one of them became involved in a traffic mishap.

Willard Jagers, 23, 361 North Palm, Anaheim, was arrested after his car assertedly collided with one operated by Rex E. Parks, on North Main at Owens drive.

Bottle of Wine
After colliding with the Parks car, the Jagers car collided with one palm tree, traveled 75 feet and uprooted another palm tree. He was pronounced "very" drunk. A bottle of wine, assertedly tossed from the Jagers car as recovered as evidence by Officer William Nielsen.

Torrance Harper, 29, 3171-2 South Main, was arrested at 2 a. m. today at South Main and Chestnut, pronounced moderately intoxicated. After a car driven by Pedro Diaz, 25, Irvine, assertedly collided with a fender of a police radio patrol car occupied by Officers C. V. Adams and Harry Prichard at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, the officers followed Diaz, asserted he was weaving about the roadway. However, a doctor found Diaz sober but that Diaz had been drinking. Diaz was detained two hours, then released.

Lighted Float To Parade Here

With a live Santa Claus perched on top, the above brightly lighted Christmas float will parade through the downtown sector on the night of the official opening here of the Christmas season, December 2. Phil Brown, secretary of the Business Men's association declared today, Santa, who will converse with Santa Anans from his high perch, also will distribute 10,000 pounds of candy and other gifts to the children. Two hundred twenty silver-tipped fir trees arrived here today and will be placed on ornamental lighting standards November 29 or 30.

ASSEMBLY ASSUMES HOLIDAY THEME

The high school assembly this week commemorated Thanksgiving. Robert Morrison introduced the selection by a girls' ensemble under the direction of Herbert L. Bickel; the reading of the Thanksgiving proclamation of President Roosevelt by Monte Tucker and Schubert's popular "Ave Maria" by Margaret Fields.

The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and president of the Santa Ana Ministerial association, was presented and he offered the address, "Thanksgiving at Its Best." Another musical selection was presented by Steve Fountain, tenor, and the assembly was concluded by a one-act comedy, produced under direction of Miss Jeanne Gerard. It was called "The Smell of Powder." Characters included Hollis Gibbs as Lavinia Gibson, Jean Wallace as Ruth Gibson, Jeanne Thwaite as Eloise Watts and Brent Wahlberg as Captain Hodges.

Leaves Grove To Cousin's Daughters

Charles Franklin Doppler, who was found dead last Sunday on the sidewalk in front of his Yorba Linda home, disinherited his two brothers and willed his four-acre orange grove to two daughters of the first cousin with whom he lived at Yorba Linda. It was shown when his will was filed for probate today in superior court. Frances E. Shepherd of Yorba Linda, who filed the will and her sister, Nellie Shepherd D'Arcy of San Francisco, share the estate equally. They are daughters of Mrs. Minnie E. Shepherd of Yorba Linda, first cousin of Doppler. Two brothers and two nephews reside in the east, the will stating that they were purposely disinherited. Doppler, whose mother died when he was four years of age, was said to have been embittered toward the other members of his immediate family because of hardships that followed his mother's death.

Mitchell Levies Traffic Fines

Herbert Thorpe, Jr., 22, Ocean Park, went to jail Wednesday for five days in lieu of paying a $6 fine for speeding and $4 for failure to appear when he pleaded guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell. James Humphries, Route 1, Orange, agreed to work out a $10 fine for speeding; Mrs. Ida Brinkman, Balboa, was fined $8 for speeding; Celso Murieta, Santa Ana, $5 for boulevard stop violation, and M. Stackman, Santa Ana, $2 for parking a car in a private driveway and $1 for failure to appear. James Monahan, Santa Ana, was given a suspended $10 term in jail after he agreed to leave the city. He had been begging.

Driver Detained In Mishap Quiz

Richard Duvall, Santa Ana, was detained by Santa Ana and Norwalk sheriff's office sub-station officers Saturday night for questioning following a report of the Los Angeles county authorities that a woman motorist complained she was injured by a hit-run driver. Duvall, located here through a license number, assertedly declared he and a man companion were driving on Highway 26 near Santa Fe Springs, that their car, driven by the second man, had "locked bumpers" in a minor collision with the woman, unidentified, told them she was uninjured, drove on. Officers Towns and Lippincott of the sub-station came here and took Duvall to Norwalk to settle the controversy.

BOOKED AT JAIL

CO. BEET GROWERS ASSURED OF ACREAGE BY AAA OFFICIAL

Beet growers of the county were assured of "ample acreage" in 1939 sugar beet allotments of the Agricultural Conservation program by E. L. Smith, sugar beet specialist for the AAA whose headquarters are at Berkeley, at a meeting of the beet department of the Orange County Farm Bureau Wednesday evening at the bureau offices.

In outlining the 1939 program, Smith reported that California had been allotted 170,000 acres which would insure "satisfactory distribution of acreage" in Orange county.

January Payments
Payments under the sugar beet act for growers who qualified in 1938 will be made about the middle of January, Smith said and will be at the rate of $1.80 to $2 a ton. No payments can be made until all forms of compliance have been turned into the Agricultural Conservation offices, Smith said. Two new conservation practices have been added to the list for 1939, Smith reported. One is that a "crop year" has been established and any practice complied with during that time will count on the current season. The other was credit for the use of bean straw as conservation practice. Under the AAA schedule, eight tons of straw will qualify one acre.

Cory Gives Talk
W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, also appeared on the program for the evening and reported that county sugar beet cost study reports now are available at the farm advisors' office. Vincent Borchard, of Santa Ana, was elected to the directorate of the beet department to fill the vacancy left by the death of George Bushard, late of Talbert. Thirty-five members attended the meeting.

Wife of Pastor Speaks Tonight

Mrs. L. DeVries, who is assisting Dr. DeVries in revival services at the Foursquare Gospel church, Fairview and Sycamore streets, will be the speaker at 7:30 p. m. today.

Both Dr. and Mrs. DeVries were in motion pictures in Hollywood during their evangelical work and Mrs. DeVries will tell of experiences in the cinema capital. Dr. DeVries will speak at 9:45 a. m. Sunday on the subject "The Holy Spirit and His Place in the Church." Sunday afternoon Mrs. DeVries will address a special assembly of girls under 12 years of age.

Police Seize 3 Air Rifles

Three air rifles were confiscated by Santa Ana police over the holiday as the result of damage reported done by their youthful users. One youth admitted he had shot out Edison school windows and an air light, was ordered to make regular report of his activities for the next three weeks. The other two boys were shooting in Santa Fe park, they admitted to officers.

S. A. MAN RECEIVES MESSAGE OF DEATH

A telegram received Wednesday night by Henry S. Williams, 313 West Cubbon street, contained news of the death that day of his sister-in-law, Miss Thelma Wharton, in Freeport, Ill. Mrs. Williams (the former Miss Elaine Wharton) left two weeks ago to join another sister, Mrs. Richmond Coburn of St. Louis, Mo., at the bedside of Miss Wharton.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon in Parsons, Kans., and she was to be laid to rest in the family plot of the Parsons burial ground, beside her mother, the late Mrs. J. F. Wharton. Miss Thelma Wharton had made a world of friends in Santa Ana on her visits with Mr. and Mrs. Williams. She spent much of the past summer here resting from arduous duties as head of the piano department of a college near Chicago, and as concert pianist. She had fulfilled several brilliant concert engagements since her return, and her health broke under the strain of work.

Her father, J. F. Wharton, who has been spending the past few months here with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, did not go east for the funeral services. He and his two daughters, Mrs. Coburn and Mrs. Williams, and two sons, Robert Wharton of Washington, D. C. and Frank Wharton of Laguna Beach, are the remaining members of the family, a prominent one of Parsons, Kans. There are also three uncles and two aunts of the late Miss Wharton, residing in this city: Messrs. Solon E. McBurney, D. P. McBurney and W. R. McBurney, Mrs. A. J. Smiley and Mrs. Roy Beall.

L. A. Attorney To Address Bar

Reuben G. Hunt, Los Angeles attorney, will speak on the Chandler Bankruptcy Act at the regular meeting of the Orange County Bar association at noon at Daniger's cafe, on December 2, according to George A. Parker, secretary.

Hunt recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he was called in conference during the drawing of the Chandler Act, and will give first hand information concerning the bankruptcy legislation.

AUTO THEFT, STORE BURGLARY REPORTED

Grand theft of an automobile, burglary of a local malt shop and two petty thefts were being investigated today by Santa Ana police. Officers C. V. Adams and Harry Prichard found an abandoned automobile on Mortimer street between Fourth and Fifth, early yesterday, learned it had been stolen in Pasadena from B. J. Peiringer, of that city. The owner was notified to come for his car.

Jimmy Rear Door
Burglars, after failing to gain entrance through a window, pried open a rear door of the R. C. Story Malt shop, 1711 North Main, Wednesday, stole $20 in cash from the cash register and a phonograph machine, according to Officers Charles Wolford and Tom Kinney. The family of Rudy Flores, Santa Ana, was disappointed Wednesday night when Flores returned to his car, parked unlocked in front of a downtown Fourth street store to find a thief had stolen their Thanksgiving Day turkey and other groceries from the car. Shelley Trotter, Route 1, Santa Ana, reported Wednesday night a volt meter valued at $25 was stolen from his car, here.

Boys' Conference Opens Tomorrow

Opening tomorrow afternoon at the Glendale Y.M.C.A., the annual Older Boys' conference will attract more than 300 high school boys of Southern California for a two-day session. Boys' Secretary Herbert Thomas of the Santa Ana Y will attend, accompanied by James Lindley, Sam Campbell and Bob Winterbourne. Highlight of the conference for many boys will be the "college night program" on Saturday night when "Bill" Rogers, son of the late Will Rogers, will speak on "My Experiences in Spain." Musical and entertainment features will be interspersed through the meetings the theme of which centers around two vital topics: "Gambling" and "Boy Meets Girl." Addresses are scheduled by the Rev. Jim Brougher of Glendale, and Dr. Franklin Nuzum of Santa Barbara. The boys will be divided into groups to study and discuss the conference themes, and to bring in reports on their conclusions. The conference will close at 2:30 Sunday, in time for the boys to return home before night.

CLUB TO WITNESS PHOTOS OF EUROPE

Members of Tavern Tattlers, Jaycee literary society, will have an opportunity to see Europe through the camera's eye Tuesday, Nov. 29, when Henry Meier, of Orange, shows his own colored motion pictures taken last summer on the European tour conducted by Thomas H. Glenn. It was announced today. The meeting will begin at 7:30 o'clock in the college library.

Jobless Payments Cut In State

Unemployment compensation payments in virtually every community of California decreased during October over the amounts paid out in September. Roy Ferguson, manager of the Santa Ana office of the state department of employment, announced today.

Ferguson said the decrease was due principally to the fact that the month of September saw the lowest number of claims for compensation filed during the year, 42,662. Claim payments commence five weeks after filing.

In Orange county, Ferguson said, a total of 1,468 checks were distributed during the month of October, representing funds in the sum of $14,300.33 in this area. October payments bring the cumulative total to 15,179 checks since January 1, representing $143,202.27 in this area. Throughout the state, 197,534 checks were paid out in October, amounting to $1,233,901.39. State totals of all checks up to October 31, were 1,971,094 payments in the sum of $18,840,409.75.

Sea Scout Throng Opens Conclave At Newport; Plan Special Events

Sea Scouts of the western area of the United States opened their annual rendezvous at Newport Beach this morning, with an enrollment of 1000 Sea Scouts and officials expected. Special church services Sunday morning will bring the annual gathering to a close.

A formal dance is scheduled for this evening at the Rendezvous ballroom, with a dress uniform parade to precede the dance.

In Tent City

The Sea Scouts are housed in a special tent city at the Newport Beach city camp grounds. Official host is Mayor Harry H. Williamson of Newport Beach. Harrison White of Santa Ana, county Scout executive, is host executive, while Thos. E. Bouchee, harbor master, is portmaster.

Competitive events for Red, White, Blue and Purple squadrons from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. today included cutter pulling, snowbird sailing, skiff races, breeches buoy, canoe race, swimming relay. Events from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. will be swimming relay, capsized boat, cutter pulling, snowbird sailing, skuttlebutt, skiff races, breeches buoy and canoe races.

900 CHICKENS DIE IN $1,000 BLAZE

Nine hundred baby chicks, eight brooders, a chicken house and garage were destroyed by fire at 4 p.m. Wednesday at the ranch home of L. M. Turner, Verano road. The family was away from home at the time and the origin of the fire has not been determined.

Mrs. Henry Vilmar saw the flames and turned in an alarm. Mrs. Vilmar lives in a small house on the property. The state fire department from Orange and the Garden Grove fire department responded to the call and were successful in saving the home endangered by flames. Loss is estimated at $1000. The plant was insured. Turner is owner of the Turner Radio company of Santa Ana.

ANAHEIM MAN KILLED BY CAR

The 6th traffic victim in Orange county this year, Lewis John Magee, 34, a resident of the Staples court, Anaheim, succumbed at the Orange County hospital yesterday to injuries suffered Wednesday at 7:21 p.m., when he was struck by a machine on North Lemon street in Anaheim.

According to Anaheim police the driver of the car was Mrs. Gladys Culler, Orange, Route 2, box 152-A. An inquest will be held at the Hilgenfeld chapel in Anaheim Saturday at 10 a.m. Funeral services will be conducted at the Huddle and Bonnell chapel in Long Beach Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

According to a report of the accident, Magee had just stepped out of his machine and had started to cross the street when he was struck by the Culler car. Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Naydine Magee; step-daughter, Barbara Jean Robbins; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Magee, of Seal Beach; two brothers, George and Maurice Magee of Seal Beach, and sister, Mrs. Raymond Gise of Seal Beach.

ate with Mrs. E. H. Krebs. A miniature broadcasting set and a loud speaker are needed, it was stated.

500 S. A. CHILDREN GET BIG THANKSGIVING TURKEY DINNER

Almost 500 youthful appetites were tamed yesterday afternoon at the Green Cat cafe when Orville W. Hinegardner, operator of the cafe, played host to hungry youngsters, most of them from needy families.

Tickets for 500 complete turkey dinners were offered free to the group and all but 60 of the tickets were used.

Frank Henderson, superintendent of Santa Ana schools and local chamber of commerce officials decorated tables in the Thanksgiving motif; L. B. Harris, wholesaler, provided cups of candy; Baker's bakery provided an extra supply of rolls, and flowers decorating the dining room were furnished by Macres florist, the Bouquet shop and Flowerland. Many of the hungry children were provided with extra helpings of turkey, milk and ice cream.

"I wish to express heartfelt thanks to the different companies with whom I deal and who have helped make the party for the children possible through their donations," Hinegardner stated. "I also wish to thank school officials and others who have aided."

Most of the tickets were distributed as follows to the various grammar school children: Edison, 36; Franklin, 25; Delhi, 50; Fremont, 70; Hoover, six; Jefferson, two; Lincoln, 15; Lowell, 30; Logan, 35; McKinley, 50; St. Joseph, 15; Spurgeon, 50; Muir, nine and Roosevelt, 50.

E. R. "Bill" Majors, secretary of the local Elks organization, with Mrs. Majors, assisted at the dinner party which was for children be-

WATER TO FLOW IN MWD TUNNEL SOON

First water of the Colorado river will be taken into the giant Metropolitan aqueduct early in December, according to an official announcement made today by Julian Hinds, assistant chief engineer of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

Today, it was pointed out, will mark the culmination of 15 years of engineering construction work and will witness the actual functioning of the first section of the $200,000,000 aqueduct system.

A few days ago the last barrier on the main line of the aqueduct was removed when the 13-mile San Jacinto tunnel was holed through, after almost six years of continuous work.

Churchill Will Talk At Pomona

Appearance of the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, famous English statesman and author, will be made Tuesday in Bridges auditorium, Claremont, as the second feature of the Claremont Colleges lecture series of the 1938-1939 season. The afternoon program begins at 4 o'clock.

"Not since Disraeli has the world of English politics seen so brilliant and complex a personality as the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill," college officials stated. His subject will be "World Danger Spots." He is regarded as the most powerful non-office-holding statesman in Great Britain and his speeches brings crowds to fill the House of Commons. He will review the international situation at Claremont in person—a world statesman whom it is rarely possible to hear publicly.

School Students Present Program

OLIVE, Nov. 25. — Seventh and eighth grade pupils presented the program Tuesday afternoon at the meeting of Olive P. T. A. Their teacher, Richard Harris, who is principal of the school, directed the play, "Hole-in-the-Wall."

Business of the afternoon was discussion of several topics of interest to the mothers and teachers. It was decided to sell at a very low price toothbrushes and dental cream in connection with the dental clinic to be sponsored by the P. T. A. community council, beginning in January.

It was announced by Mrs. A. W. Ames, president, that the card party postponed recently will be held December 2 at the school house. Mrs. Fred Schildmeyer, Mrs. Donald Brown and Mrs. Ben Geiker will be in charge. Mrs. Schildmeyer was appointed magazine chairman of the association yesterday and Mrs. O. J. Linnartz, parliamentarian. Members of the class taught by Miss Freda Schaff were awarded the prize for securing the most members in the recent drive.

P.-T.A. CONDUCTS FATHERS' NIGHT

"Fathers' Night" was observed this week by the Willard Parent-Teacher association at their November meetings in the school cafeteria.

W. O. Mendenhall presided as chairman with Principal Lyle Mitchell as acting secretary. The treasurer's report was submitted by E. T. McFadden. Norman Hicks led in the flag salute, followed by a verse of "America" with Lowell Schmid directing and Mrs. Sylvester at the piano.

Community Singing
Ben Schlegel, acting program chairman, presented an entertaining program which began with a community sing led by Schmid, with Miss Glancy at the piano. A short magazine skit, coached by Mrs. Smith, drama teacher, with Mrs. Rose Woodward, Mrs. Myrtle Stinson, Mrs. Edward Luhnman and Jackie Munson as the cast. The Willard Male Quartet composed of Lowell Schmid, Herbert Michel, Arnold Lund and Robert Horn who sang three vocal numbers were twice encored. Lester Phillips, of the "Blue Note" music company and a commissioned officer of the Phillip's Crusaders Boys Military Band gave a delightful group of trumpet solos with Mrs. Esther Shields as piano accompanist. A debate on the topic, "Are Father Parents" climaxed the evening's entertainment; speakers for the affirmative, Leon Landersbach and Phillip Hood, and for the negative, Mendenhall.

During the social hour, pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream was served with coffee by the hostesses Mesdames Harold Honer, Patrick Prizio, Robert Reynolds, Allan Crooks and Eugene Dickinson.

Frances Willard

According to Herbert Michel, instructor of the combined instrumental groups of Willard, there will be many quartets organized this year. Among these will be two string quartets made up of Lucile Mendenhall and Hilda Bernstein, cello, and Raymond Winter, Marvin Jones, Rovena Aronade, and Ed Scott, violins. These quartets will be accompanied by Patsy McGee.

There is also going to be a trumpet quartet and a brass quartet. The trumpet quartet will consist of Bobby Bogart, Wayne Herzog, Stewart Gibson and Don Nelson. The brass quartet will have two trumpet players, one baritone, and a trombone. The trumpets will be played by Raymond Winters and Victor Landersbach, Harold Yost and Jean Withall will play the baritone and the trombone.

This year, as last, there will be a popular orchestra which so far has 14 members signed, and more are expected, according to Mr. Michel. The members who are signed so far are Raymond Winters, Rovena Aronade, Don Marley, Ed Fentissad, Don Nelson, Wallace Detrich, Bobby Bogart, Marvin Jones, Patsy McGee, Jean Withall, Marian Christ, Dorothy Garner, Raymond Winter and Reginald Costello.

Workshop Classes
Desks, coffee tables, paddle boards, row boats, chests, book shelves, sail boats, a pink pong table, and tables, cedar boxes, treasure chests and Spanish desks are the largest projects being made by Arthur Nisewanger's four workshop classes. Of these classes one is an eighth grade, while the other three consist of ninth graders.

"The boys in these classes recite in turn from their green workshop manuals on the subject of the various drills, implements, and other tools and equipment used in this type of shop work here at Willard," Mr. Nisewanger commented.

Pupils Write Themes
Themes, consisting of at least five paragraphs, on one of the 12 heroic figures chosen by students from schools in more than 30 countries, have just been completed by the pupils of the L-1 and L-2 English composition classes, instructed by Mrs. Mable Budd.

These compositions, which will take the place of a final examination, were developed along lines of character, nature of contribution to world civilization, and sacrifice and devotion necessary to accomplish it.

A topical outline on the theme and a bibliography of books and pages read were required. At least three authorities had to be consulted.

The three essentials of heroism considered in naming these heroes were nobility of character, self-sacrificing devotion to a cause, and constructive work for humanity.

Group Experiments
Pupils of Mrs. Ruth Low's science classes who have received radium cards from Dr. Luther Gable, a noted authority on the subject, have been borrowing tripod microscopes from the school to take home and perform experiments with these cards.

A minute quantity of actual radium is visible on the cards, which when observed through a magnifying glass is seen to emit thousands of alpha rays which appear as vivid sparks.

McFadden Assists
Barbara McFadden assisted Norman Hicks when the general science class experimented on hearing and taste in a recent study of the nervous system. Mr. Hicks stated that most of the pupils could hear all the frequencies between 50 and 10,000 cycles in this test of the auditory nerve.

Each member of the group was blindfolded and asked to hold his nose during the experiment conducted on taste when samples of potato, apple and onion were used. Pupils were asked to name the taste of each different sample. Two-thirds of the group, according to Mr. Hicks, were correct in their tastes.

"Manufacturing," from the vocational textbook, is now the topic being studied in both of Miss Mary Jane Steel's boys' vocational classes. These textbooks explain the various important occupations to help the student in his choice of a vocation subject for his notebook at the end of the semester when the boys will choose a vocation they would prefer to follow.

After School Tennis
After-school girls' tennis tournaments will begin in January, according to Miss Wyllys Anderson, girls' athletic instructor. Both singles and doubles will be played and the winners placed higher on the tennis ladder. At the end of the season the winners will play to see who will be this year's champion. Eighth and ninth grade girls are eligible for this practice in tennis technique, and can sign up on the paper posted on the P.E. bulletin board.

Mrs. Veda Mashmeyer's L-1 social science class, which had the privilege of selecting the text on world history for the rest of the year, chose "Man's Great Adventure," which will be supplemented by the latest edition of the Rugg text, "Changing Government and Changing Culture."

"The students chose this text because of its colored plates, helpful diagrams, and the interesting way in which it is written," Mrs. Mashmeyer commented. "Man's Great Adventure," written by professor Edwin W. Pahlow, is one of the latest texts available on world history, having been published in 1933 by Ginn and Company.

Writing character sketches has been the recent work of Mrs. Evelyn Minge's L-2 English class. The students were permitted to choose any character they wished to base the sketch on, and before writing it they were given ideas by reading numerous character studies from the writings of Charles Dickens and Victor Hugo.

According to Mrs. Minge some of the outstanding sketches were written by Eloise Revill, Cecile Descant, Miriam Christ, Marjorie Adkinson and Rolland McAndrew.

IGNORES BULLET IN HEEL
BRISTOW, Okla. (UP)—Lawes Carroll is a farmer and he likes to hunt squirrels. While hunting with a friend, the farmer climbed a tree and shot at a squirrel hiding in the hollow. The .22-caliber bullet passed through the wood and lodged in Carroll's heel. He went ahead with the hunt.

Hold Anniversary Party In Tustin

TUSTIN, Nov. 25.—Number eight was very much in evidence Thursday, when Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward entertained with a family dinner. The affair celebrated the 58th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ward, of La Habra; the 18th anniversary of the Jack Wards and the birthday of Mrs. Jack Ward.

There are eight members in the family, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward and Jack, Helen, Billie and Russell Ward. Eight additional guests were invited to join with them, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McKee, of Fullerton; Mrs. Jewell Dixon and Rita Fay and Shirley May Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Rutledge, of Brea.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ward are former La Habra residents and now live on the Marcy ranch.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES HELD

Services of Thanksgiving were conducted on Thursday in Churches of Christ, Scientist, The subject of the Lesson-Sermon was "Thanksgiving" and the words of the Psalmist, "Offer unto God thanksgiving; and pay thy vows unto the most High," constituted the Golden Text.

Scriptural Selections
The Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon included these passages from Deuteronomy: "Ye are the children of the LORD your God: . . . Then shalt truly tithe all the increase of thy seed, that the field bringeth forth year by year . . . that the LORD thy God may bless thee in all the work of thine hand which thou doest." This verse from Malachi was also presented: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it."

Passages Quoted
Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love and good deeds." "Happiness is spiritual, born of Truth and Love. It is unselfish; therefore it cannot exist alone, but requires all mankind to share it."

Testimonies appropriate for the occasion were given by Christian Scientists in the congregation.

An average of 170,000 cups of tea are drunk every minute in England.

"Troy Awaits With Open Gates" The week of reunions under the general chairmanship of Dr. Edward M. Pallette, '98, will be climaxed by the S. C. Notre Dame football game December 3 in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Other events include reunion banquets and teas for graduates of S. C.'s 24 schools and colleges, the men's and women's football banquets, women's hi-jinks with its "Cherchez la Femme" theme, interfraternity sing, frosh-soph brawl.

REPORT SHOWS GAS SALE RISE

October was the fifth month in 1938 which state gasoline sales increased, it was announced in the monthly report issued today by the State Board of Equalization.

The October gasoline tax was assessed on the distribution of 151,338,379 gallons. The total tax amounted to $4,504,166.10 as compared with $4,308,581.28 for the same month of the previous year, a gain of 5.37 per cent. The month's income also was well above the $4,247,422.50 collected on September sales.

Account For Figures
Other months which showed gains over the same period of 1937 included February, April, June and August.

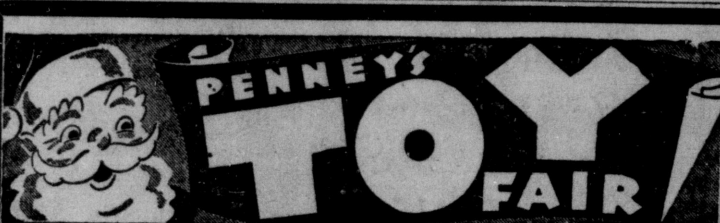

Oil companies reporting sales of more than 300,000 gallons in October were listed by the board with the explanation of gasoline previously taxed and exempt sales to the Federal Government or in interstate or foreign commerce accounted for differences between total sales and taxable sales.

8 MILLION SEE GLASGOW FAIR

LONDON (UP)—So far 8,000,000 people have visited the Empire Exhibition at Glasgow since its opening by the King and Queen last May. It is expected that another 4,000,000 will be added to this figure before the exhibition closes on Oct. 29.

and Homecoming football dance after the game.

Amid gay, symbolic decorations carrying out the motif of the slogan selected for this year's celebrations, Troy's fraternities and sororities will maintain open house for returning alumni. Prominent Trojan graduates serving on committees as chairmen include, in addition to Dr. Pallette, former president of the California Medical association, Los Angeles' Mayor Fletcher Bowron, '12; William G. Bonelli, '16, of the State Board of Equalization, and Judge May D. Lahey, '14.

Church Societies

Aid Section
Devotion on a Thanksgiving theme led by Mrs. L. W. Lauderbach, opened the recent meeting of Northeast section, First Presbyterian Aid society, for which Miss Margaret Esau opened her home at 514 East Twentieth street.

Following the devotional period, business matters of the section were considered briefly under the leadership of Mrs. Cora Rugg. Miss Esau and her co-hostesses had planned various games for the social interval, and each member cited something for which she was especially thankful as the season of Thanksgiving approaches. The fact that all lived in the freedom of the United States, seemed to be special cause for gratitude.

Miss Esau had the assistance of a hostess committee in serving pumpkin pie with whipped cream, and coffee at the conclusion of the afternoon. This committee was comprised of Mesdames M. B. Yonel, chairman, Frank Jones, Elizabeth Clark and J. P. Talbot. In addition to the twenty-five section members present was one guest, Mrs. H. J. Lisk.

King's Guards
Meeting in the social rooms of First M. E. church, King's Guards of that church held an interesting session Monday afternoon under direction of Flora Margaret Howland, president. In addition to conducting roll call, Patsy Ruth Billips initiated two new members, Katherine and Georgia Lambros. After the stewardship ritual and its candle-lighting ceremony by Gracie Howland a musical program was introduced by Maxine Hall. Piano numbers were played by Peggy Ann Tozier, Katherine Lambros, Georgia Lambros, Patsy Ruth Billips, Gracie Howland and Doris Marie Barton. Maxine Hall sang a

FARM TAX VALUATIONS

The problem that will face county officials, if business throughout the nation does not pick up, is valuations for taxation of agricultural land. The valuation on many a ranch for taxing purposes was established on what the ranch would earn with oranges selling from 75 cents a box up. Bean land was also based on beans bringing five cents or better. And if these prices continue, it will be absolutely necessary to reduce the tax load of the owners of these properties, if they are not to be confiscated by taxation.

And with the unemployment and the demand for pensions in Southern California, the raising of sufficient funds, with lowered prices, will become a greater and greater burden on those who have any property left.

In the meantime, with these conditions facing us, every possible economy in county, city and state governments should be put into effect. The wise operator of government, or business, sees what is approaching before it happens and prepares for it. Taxes cannot keep going up indefinitely and have any private property left.

MORE MONEY FOR PRADO

The requirement of additional lands for Prado reservoir, not contemplated originally under the $2,500,000 bond program for financing the county's share of the flood control project, appears to present a new financial problem for the county supervisors; however, this problem may be more technical than actual.

It is true that the several thousand additional acres which the army engineers require the county to procure for the reservoir site may cost an estimated $640,000, this figure being based on old appraisals, and it also is true that this money, not included in the bond issue, may be transferred from other project units of the county to the Prado unit.

But the supervisors, it is known, do not expect to be called upon to face the problem of replenishing the funds for the other units.

The last session of Congress passed a bill, which was signed by the president, to refund to local subdivisions, such as Orange county, any moneys required from such subdivisions for dam and reservoir sites under projects built by the army engineers.

Thus Orange county expects to have the $2,500,000 bond money refunded by the federal government. In fact, the supervisors anticipate that the county may start receiving the refund before it spends all of its $2,500,000. That depends upon how rapidly Congress passes appropriations authorized by the refund act. If the refunding occurs before the $2,500,000 is spent, as seems probable, there will be no necessity for replenishing the $640,000 now proposed to be transferred to Prado from the other units.

Meanwhile the county is obligated under its agreement with the army engineers to supply lands as required. The army engineers have designated Prado as the first unit to be built, and have required title to all lands that would be flooded by a water level reaching the top of the dam, 556 feet above sea level.

Under the $2,500,000 bond set-up, the county contemplated purchasing lands only up to the 520-foot elevation, and acquiring flooding rights on the rest. Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, held out for that plan, claiming it would save the county a million dollars. The army engineers now have vetoed that procedure.

Mr. West, it is said, still declines to recognize that his plan has gone awry, and will oppose transfer of funds from the other units to purchase the required additional lands at Prado. Such transfer requires a four-fifths vote of the board. Should any other supervisor support him, Mr. West could block the transfer. He would thereby succeed in jeopardizing the entire program, in the opinion of some other supervisors, who recognize that the army engineers hold the whiphand, and that if Orange county wants dams it must meet the requirements.

In view of the probability of a refund from the federal treasury before any problem of replenishment actually arises, it seems that there should be no cause for alarm at the transfer of funds from the other units to Prado.

COMMERCE INSTEAD OF WAR

(Daily Oklahoman)

Isolationists and extreme protectionists together with all other exponents of the doctrine of national self sufficiency are certain to condemn the reciprocal trade arrangement that has just been perfected by representatives of the United States and Canada and Great Britain. For the perfected agreement represents a sharp inroad on our country's high tariff structure. It also represents the formation of an economic alliance, which will result in some respects that entangling foreign alliance against which American public opinion has always run. And it is a positive repudiation of the narrow doctrine that our country should depend always upon its own resources and content itself with its own domestic trade.

In certain areas which are more or less limited in their extent this trade agreement will be injurious as well as unpopular. It is feared that injurious effects will be felt in the zinc fields of Ottawa county, and those who may possibly lose in one county will hardly be reconciled to their loss by the positive benefits bestowed upon the other 76 counties of the state. Wherever there is a local injury there is certain to be an open resentment.

But regardless of isolated cases of economic injury these trade agreements look to the welfare of the country as a whole. The entire country, including temporarily injured communities, has been seriously hurt by a tariff structure that has wrought havoc with our foreign trade. It will be remembered that 1920 economists warned Mr. Hoover that economic ruin would be the result if he signed the prohibitive Hawley-Smoot tariff act. They foretold the years of economic paralysis which has been wasting the country for the last eight years. The avowed purpose of the Hull agreements is the complete reversal of the country's tariff policies to the end that the lost world markets may be recovered by the commerce of the United States.

Indirectly at least these trade agreements promote the cause of world peace by removing or diminishing one of the most prolific causes of war. They seek to make it possible for every participating country to purchase abroad in a peaceful way the products and commodities it must obtain in order to live. It removes much of the necessity for obtaining and

INEFFICIENCY OF GOVERNMENT CAUSED BANK DEPOSIT INSURANCE

Few people realize that the reason the public has demanded so-called bank deposit insurance, is because the government failed to do its original duty of preventing bankers from misusing bank credit. It is one of the primary duties of government to prevent people from defrauding other people and for the government to be obliged to admit that it is necessary to attempt, (and that is all it is), to insure bank deposits is admission on the face of it that they are incapable of doing their original obligation of preventing the banks from using "forged check-book money."

This bank deposit insurance is simply a chloroform that fools the great mass of people that their deposits are safe. The bank deposit insurance only insures that the bank will pay back the same amount of dollars but they do not insure us that these dollars will buy anything. So, the bank deposit insurance is just a trick and chloroform that satisfies the people who smugly think their deposits are insured.

It might take quite a while to get inflation, as big bodies move slowly but those people who have read history realize that neither the bankers, nor the people as voters can be trusted to control the value of money. The real and only safe way of controlling the value of money is to use natural commodity, like gold, or genuine warehouse receipts for gold, that neither the bankers nor the public can greatly increase or decrease.

Bank insurance is simply an admission that the government is attempting to further patch up its failure to regulate bank credit.

THE EVENTUAL EFFECTS OF PENSIONS

Inasmuch as the popular way of being elected and the way to appear to be humanitarian is to advocate government pensions, it might be well to look into the eventual results of Federal or State pensions becoming universal.

What the advocates of State pensions, who claim to be so humanitarian and such "great lovers of the poor and the working man," fail to realize is that government pensions, if established, will greatly retard the accumulation of capital and reduce the capital that we now have. This is true, because as the individual comes to believe that he need not make any provisions himself for his old age, he will spend as he goes and he will not be helping contribute to the capital of the world by his savings, either in the form of life insurance or in other investments he may make.

Should the government tax the man and really put up a reserve, then the politicians, rather than private enterprise, become managers of capital in a business. And it seems foolish and absurd to believe that politicians would wisely invest. It seems logical to conclude from history that, instead of investing, they will perpetuate themselves in office. Thus, there would be no saving by the great mass of people and most of the savings of the country come from the great mass of the people and not from the few. And it is not to the interest of society, if the few could and would save, that the wealth—capital—of the country be in the hands of a few. It is to the interest of society that the great mass of people contribute their full share to furnish the tools that makes higher wages and better living conditions possible.

So any federal pension scheme that might be established by the Federal Government, instead of in the long run raising the standard of living and the wages of all workers, will greatly reduce the standard of living and the wages of all workers.

And yet the politicians and the Townsendites claim that pensions will increase purchasing power. These pension plans that reduce the accumulation of tools, greatly reduce the amount that each man can produce; therefore, they reduce the amount he can consume. So it is just as ridiculous to say that pensions, especially the Townsend Pension that has to be spent, will increase production and purchasing power as to say that a man can raise more corn with an old hoe than he can with a modern tractor and modern farm implements. If there ever has been an absurd philosophy of economics, it is that the Townsend Plan is a recovery plan!

holding foreign colonies. For the nation that is suffering for the lack of essential commodities it seeks to substitute the market place for the battlefield. To the insufficient nation it offers the choice of open purchases at fair prices instead of the far more costly adventures of war. Instead of fighting for sources of supply the insufficient nation can now purchase those supplies.

These reciprocal trade agreements are antipodal to the policies now being pursued by the totalitarian states. In order to obtain essential supplies Italy conquered Ethiopia and enslaved the Ethiopian people. Germany annexed Austria and portions of Czechoslovakia, and Japan is conquering China. Governments are being overthrown, countries are being reduced to bondage in order to give the conquerors supplies that are essential to the existence of their homelands.

For this policy of international brigandage the Hull treaties seek to substitute open markets, unrestricted purchases and an ever expanding commerce. Peace in place of the constant threat of war is the objective of the Hull agreements.

In the wide world today there is serious need for everything that can be produced by the American factory and mine and farm. If our country were meeting in full the world's demand for its products, we should have no surpluses, no unemployment, no shut downs and no smokeless factory chimneys. It is the purpose of Secretary Hull and the administration he represents so brilliantly to expand our foreign trade and end these long years of economic stagnation. And in spite of the fact that certain communities are likely to suffer because of the new agreements, it is probable that the country as a whole will derive priceless advantages from the trade policies our government has embraced.

PURCHASED VOTES

(Chicago Tribune)

At the recent election just short of 45 per cent of all the voters in Chicago cast straight Democratic ballots. Just short of 30 per cent cast straight Republican ballots.

Now let us see what happened in the precincts in which the residents of the government's housing projects do their voting.

The Jane Addams homes constitute five precincts. In these precincts 57 per cent of the ballots were straight Democratic and only 18 per cent straight Republican.

The three precincts of the Trumbull Park homes produced 61 per cent of straight Democratic ballots and 18 per cent of straight Republican.

In the four precincts of the Julia Lathrop homes 59 per cent of the ballots were straight Democratic and 14 per cent were straight Republican.

Federal housing provides superior quarters at considerably less than cost to a favored few. As a remedy for urban congestion and slums it is of negligible value. As a vote buyer it rates high.

JOHNSON SAYS

NEW YORK CITY—For once, at least, this column is completely and enthusiastically in agreement with Mr. Harold Ickes, secretary of the Interior.

Mr. Ickes wants to buy 5000 acres in the Redwood mountain district in California and add it to Sequoia National park to which it is near. The reason the secretary wants them is that they contain about the last important stand of "big trees" (Sequoia gigantea) still in private ownership—and that they are in danger of destruction in lumbering operations.

Notwithstanding that "only God can make a tree" and that Thomas Jefferson suffered anguish when even a 40-year-old elm was cut to make the city of Washington, we do have to cut some trees if only for kindling wood to "strut round" as Bert Williams used to lament in "Woodman, spare that tree."

But with proper methods of forestation, the ordinary tree can be made a crop. The forests can reproduce themselves on a commercial basis in 30 or 40 years and in some varieties in 12. But what kind of a crop can you reproduce with trees that grow from 5000 to 6000 years and at 40 years are just saplings.

You must not confuse these giant Sequoias with their cousins the redwoods (Sequoia sempervirens) which grow on the coast at lower altitudes. The giants are the biggest and oldest living things on earth. Some were giants, 3000 years old, when a giant Jesus walked the dusty roads of Palestine. Some antedate the earliest written page of human history—whether on Egyptian granite or Assyrian clay tablets.

They grow in little groves at between 8000 and 10,000 feet altitude and they won't grow any place else. There are pitifully few of them. In spite of their great strength, size and age, they are almost as brittle as a slate-pen. When they fall, they shatter like glass. Thus they wield little timber except shingles and short panels. To use them for commercial purposes seems almost like a sacrilege—like caining the bones of your ancestors for tooth-powder.

I was once a superintendent of Sequoia park and hence guardian of the largest remaining groves. That park was hastily established to stop predatory lumbering operations among those relics of antiquity. That had been many years earlier but, riding through the de-late spots where some of the had been cut by vandals of sentiment was shocking. The great stumps were still bleeding and the ground for many yards was black with their blood.

Thus their commercial value is insignificant but their sentimental and historical value is incalculable. Their bark is of the richest russet color on earth. I shall not forget the first one I saw. I was riding alone through a splendid virgin forest of cedars, and sugar and yellow pine and suddenly and unexpectedly encountered this great red pillar—3000 years old, 25 feet in diameter and reaching ten times that distance into the sky. It was like looking for the first time into the stupendous gorge of Yosemite or the Grand Canyon—a faintness in the solar plexus—aware of the infinite.

There are few, if any, remaining trees outside the area Mr. Ickes wants to buy to add to the biggest grove—Sequoia park. But the proposed purchase is one of the most perfect and unspoiled groves. He should have that ap-

"It is for each to utter that which he sincerely believes to be true, and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out."—Spencer. Contributors are urged to confine their articles to 300 words.

Fellow Citizens:

In a recent issue of The Register an editorial made reference to Olson's election for governor and in part read: "Now that he is elected, if the newspaper reports are correct he is considering some form of 'co-operative production for use' which would further things out of balance and delay the return of private enterprise." Most certainly right! Industrialists know that any form of "co-operative production for use" will only transfer private management into inefficient political management. It's just another new impractical idea that would meet with expensive failure.

We read in the newspapers under the heading of New Deal Gaggling Industry, by one who does not hesitate to state facts. Quote in part: Orval W. Adams of Salt Lake City, president of the American Bankers association, attacked the Roosevelt administration today and charged that the National Labor Relations Board had prevented recovery by binding and gagging industry. The N.L.R.B. was the New Deal's 'pet' and was the tool of radical labor leaders. We are drifting with ever increasing speed into government economy, state capitalism and totalitarianism. The inevitable result of such planned economy is ultimate dictatorship! This is a tendency which, if not checked, will move strongly into some form of national socialism or fascism. Your depositors as a class doubtless approve of the Social Security act. Most of them don't know that the billions collected from employers and employees are being spent to meet current expenses of government. Never should the American Bankers association remain silent when politicians are spending the country into bankruptcy.

How can the Social Security act be other than class legislation when there are millions of workers in the United States excluded from the provisions of the act? There should be no class legislation in our American form of government. The billions of dollars collected by the government from employers and employees is just that much money taken out of productive circulation, slowing down production and buying power and increasing unemployment.

Let us take a look at just what it means to keep the money circulating in a productive way: According to Dow-Jones organization (as I have read) "In October 1929, a deposit of $100 in a New York Bank was being used fast enough to do $122.70 of work in a year. In October 1934, the same dollar was being called upon to do annual work of only $22.50." Banks' funds were simply lying idle.

The average between high and low years of how much work the dollar was doing would be $77.60. We'll consider that during a normal year the dollar would turn 75 times during the year and see what it would do in the way of producing wealth.

For example—in just a small way—let us consider two families, each family receiving an annual income of $6000, and that each family has an annual total expense—including national, state and local taxes—of $2,500, leaving a balance of $3,500 to spend as each family chooses to spend.

Family No. 1, in order to accumulate wealth, invested all of their $2,500 in government bonds, which took that much money out of productive circulation, stopping that money from doing any work.

Family No. 2, in order to accumulate wealth, invested all of their $2,500 in government bonds, which took that much money out of productive circulation, stopping that money from doing any work.

proprietor instantly—and no matter what it costs. It is a thing of concern to the whole country because it is a priceless and irreplaceable national heritage in danger of being lost forever.

Consider Taxes

By ERNEST MINOR PATTERSON

President, American Academy of Political and Social Science

I have just been in Houston, Texas. The casual visitor to that city would not believe that there is such a thing as a business depression or even a recession. There are all the outward signs of a bounding prosperity.

And there the argument rests. The predicament of Texans illustrates the difficulty faced by many other regions. We are caught in the same forces that are gripping so many other countries. We are trying to become self-sufficient. The issue is far broader than one between the New Deal and its opponents. We are trying to eat our cake and still have it. So long as we attempt to restrict production and to maintain or raise prices, we create difficulties for our export industries and raise the cost of living for all of us.

If we allow the prices of exported goods to fall to a level where competition with other countries is possible, the incomes of the producers of exported goods are not large enough to cover the cost of their costs to produce. The cost of their production could be lowered by improved methods, say by using machinery, there will still be the problem of caring for displaced workers. If costs are reduced by lowering import duties on many commodities whose prices enter into costs, then many producers of those goods who now are assisted by the protective tariff will be compelled to curtail their operations and many of their workers will go on relief until they are absorbed elsewhere.

Naturally enough, there are two schools of thought among business men. One group argues for high cotton prices. At present the price is below nine cents per pound and some believe it should be from twelve to fifteen cents per pound. Anything less, they contend, is too low to cover costs. Production is now being restricted and many workers are subsisting on relief payments.

But look at our reduced volume of cotton exports, say the other group. Even with the price of cotton so low as it is now, it is difficult to compete with the production of Brazil, of Russia, of India, of Egypt and of other countries. We may be permanently losing our markets. If the price were as low as perhaps seven and one-half cents, we might be able to compete. But we cannot do it at present. And if we cannot we must expect heavy

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, November 25.—The supreme court has its moments of subtlety, or perhaps things just occasionally happen that way.

In a little-noticed patents case the other day, the court seemed to re-enter the old liberal-conservative argument and cast additional doubt on who is which.

It was the A. T. & T. case. The point involved was the same one on which the court ruled last session. At that time the opinion was delivered by the presumed conservative Justice Butler, with Mr. Roosevelt's new appointee, Justice Black alone dissenting—and loudly.

The decision this time was the same as before, but it was significantly not delivered by Butler. Instead the great liberal leader Justice Brandeis read it to amazed lawyers on the benches. He used just about the same language the conservative Butler previously had employed. Again Black dissented, but this time he had a companion, Justice Reed, Mr. Roosevelt's latest appointee.

The front benches have been smiling wise ever since. Note—Justice department opinions were discarded by the court in the same case, because these involved questions not at issue, but the language of the Brandeis decision seemed to upset current government reasoning on patents.

The Hopkins organization is building up to something, although no one yet seems to know just what.

Harry, the WPA man, slipped into his latest speech a line advocating abolition of the needs test for WPA workers. He did not explain it, but apparently he meant that anyone who wanted to work for WPA should be allowed to, whether he needed the money or the work. This sounded like abolition of the old edict upon which WPA was based: "No one shall go hungry." It also sounded like a slip of the tongue, because, apparently a millionaire could be a WPA worker under that system.

That it was not a slip was evident when Hopkins' close pal, Senator Pepper, emerged from the White House shortly thereafter and got an obscure paragraph of attention back near the want-ads, favoring the same "abolition of the needs test."

The build-up may turn out to be nothing more than Hopkins groping for new ways to continue WPA in the face of business improvement and diminishing unemployment—or something even more strategic.

Infection May Be Responsible For Appearance of Comedones

Practically every child sooner or later develops a certain number of blackheads and pimples. They seem to be associated with an excess action of the glands of the skin in certain areas which put out an unusual amount of oily material.

Perhaps this is related in some way to the entire glandular constitution of the person concerned, and it may perhaps be related also to diet. Neither of these factors has been established with certainty. It is conceivable that at times a special germ invades the skin, producing the infectious material in association with the oily glands. The first sign of this condition is the blackhead, which is scientifically called a comedone. The relief payments for an indefinitely long period. These payments must continue and many people supported in idleness unless and until they are absorbed into other lines of agriculture or of industry. Perhaps such absorption is possible but as yet the signs of it have not appeared.

And there the argument rests. The predicament of Texans illustrates the difficulty faced by many other regions. We are caught in the same forces that are gripping so many other countries. We are trying to become self-sufficient. The issue is far broader than one between the New Deal and its opponents. We are trying to eat our cake and still have it. So long as we attempt to restrict production and to maintain or raise prices, we create difficulties for our export industries and raise the cost of living for all of us.

If we allow the prices of exported goods to fall to a level where competition with other countries is possible, the incomes of the producers of exported goods are not large enough to cover the cost of their costs to produce. The cost of their production could be lowered by improved methods, say by using machinery, there will still be the problem of caring for displaced workers. If costs are reduced by lowering import duties on many commodities whose prices enter into costs, then many producers of those goods who now are assisted by the protective tariff will be compelled to curtail their operations and many of their workers will go on relief until they are absorbed elsewhere.

It is not a pretty picture. And as yet none of us has an answer. Any proposal presents distressing consequences. The general reply is clear enough. We should strive for what Secretary Wallace has called "balanced abundance." Our efforts should be directed toward more production rather than less. But if and as we do it there will come many dislocations which will create new and serious problems. We cannot push ahead thoughtlessly.

Certainly the president will not recommend such a change unless it is accompanied by a substitute unemployment test and abolition of the prevailing wage scale. In this last suggestion may lie the answer. Abandonment of the needs test necessarily requires abandonment of the prevailing wage scale. Otherwise there might be a wholesale exodus from industry to the WPA rolls.

Thus the blow may be an uppercut to the prevailing wage which was pushed upon WPA by Congress and labor.

As another preservative, WPA is being edged into the rearmament program. Plans now are being worked up for WPA to participate in building more air fields (it is working on the world's largest here now), more army camps, reconditioning navy yards like Key West, sewing military clothing, building underground warehouse.

Hopkins' proximity to the powerful here is an assurance that his attitude will get a good slice of whatever there is.

Government economists are going Swedish again. You will find few who do not mention currently some points about the Swedish developments on unemployment, taxes, railroads, economics and what not.

No one is yet suggesting, however, that the U. S. be squeezed down to Sweden's size either in area, population, variety of industries—or variety of problems.

It's screwball news time in Washington. Newsmen, comparing notes, have found that rarely before has there been such a variety of curved stories tossed at them as during the past few weeks. Propagandists in and out of government are bearing down in their battle for the printed word and most of their efforts seem to assay about 25 per cent truth or less.

Hopkins got back at the wits for at least one vodvil joke, against WPA. In an unreported section of this same N. Y. speech. He said that at the time of the New England hurricane the Connecticut state WPA administration wired him urgently demanding more shovels. Hopkins wired back: "If you have not enough shovels, just let the men lean on each other."

Note—WPA now is making a collection of WPA jokes but may not publish it. Ford, you may remember, once made a collection of flivver stories.

skin around the glands is thickened and this makes it easy for the oily material to be retained in the skin. This thickening also prevents the blood from showing through the skin, so that people with the seborrheic or oily constitution are likely to have a sallow rather than a rosy skin. The darkening of the material at the mouth of the dilated gland is caused by dirt, as well as by the effects of the oxygen on the oily material.

The various appearances possible depend on the manner in which the blackhead and pimple form. If the pimple is near the surface, so that pus forms and it breaks, the section is easily removed. On the other hand, if it goes deep and inflammation forms, so that pus is healed in the person develops what is called a blind boil. If several small pimples join together a small abscess may be produced, with a subsequent scar.

There is no reason to believe, incidentally, that the person whose face is marked by great numbers of pimples is in any way deficient mentally, physically, or in any other manner which might make him feel socially inferior.

HOLDUP FAILS AS MAN WIELDS PIPE

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Brown and Wakner Colonial chapel, with the Rev. William A. Abbott of Garden Grove, in charge. Burial will be in Rosedale cemetery.

Leichtcruss told Officers Tom Murphine, A. W. Rodabaugh, William Trapp and Don Zaiser two men entered the place about 1:30 a. m., ordered chili and beans and sandwiches. As they ate, he said, one suddenly reached over the counter and slugged him over the head with a sap or club, then ran behind the counter and kicked him. He said he grabbed a piece of pipe and chased the pair. They escaped. He described No. 1 as five feet, nine inches tall, weighing about 180, wearing grey suit and dark hat, the other as about the same height and weight and wearing grey coat and hat.

The Santa Ana Junior City library will be closed all day Saturday, as was announced today, pending repairs on the floors. The Junior City will open again Monday, it was announced by officials.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25.—Setting Around (RKO-Radio Pictures): Filmmakers' boxes contend the movie industry is an infallible barometer reflecting every change in public taste. The contention always reminds me of that moss-covered gag, "Figures can't lie—but liars can figure. Undoubtedly, the public's reception of any picture is an indication of its current entertainment tastes—but, about nine times out of 10, Hollywood fails to read the barometer correctly.

A case in point: Today, watching the filming of chorus numbers for the new Astaire-Rogers film musical, "The Castles," I commented on the unusual beauty of the chorines and was assured that "It's due to the great change in public taste. Four years ago, with more than 2000 trained dancers available, musicals were so popular that every girl was working overtime and we had to take any of them that we were lucky enough to get. Today, with very few musicals in production we can pick and choose. When we put in a call for this picture, more than 600 girls applied for chorus work."

Most producers have concluded that musicals are no longer popular with the public. But I'm willing to give long odds that if "The Castles" is a good picture, fans will fight to see it. I don't believe audiences tired of musicals because they were musicals—I think they simply rebelled at the formula-tailored trips that Hollywood turned out when the cycle was at its peak. The public has just one permanent movie preference. It wants GOOD pictures!

Chatter about RKO Idols: A few more years and a few less hairs and Fred Astaire will be perfect for "King of the Gnomes." Side-stitcher, Edna May Oliver in front of a distortion mirror. Too bad more women can't be "frankly forty" as charmingly as Janet Beecher. Wonder if Bobby Breen would be improved by a session with the Dead-

VALUE OF FIRST AID WORK CITED

The work of the Orange County Chapter, American Red Cross, in teaching First Aid, and establishing emergency first aid stations has been outstanding on the Pacific coast, Alfred Higgins of Orange, chairman of the county council reported today.

More than 120 classes were taught in the period from July 1, 1935 to July 1, 1938, divided as follows: Anaheim chapter, 11; Northern Orange County chapter, 25; Orange chapter, 25, and Santa Ana chapter, 67.

Humanitarian Services
A total of 2346 certificates was issued by the National Red Cross to instructors and members of the above classes.

Ten emergency first aid stations, dedicated to humanitarian service, stand in the county ready to act instantly in case of an accident in their area. These stations already have prevented the death of many seriously injured in automobile accidents.

Service at Park
While not located on a busy highway, the station at Irvine Park has been of great service to merry-makers and pleasure seekers taking advantage of the park. One hundred and thirty-two persons in a year and a half, have been treated. Skinned legs and arms came in for the most care. Nine fractured arms were given first aid attention.

"These are some of the local services of the chapters that every day in the year are quietly working in the entire county of Orange making it a safer and happier place in which to live," Higgins stated.

Your membership in the Red Cross today is needed to continue these local activities.

FARM CREDIT GROUP RE-ELECTS HODGKIN

George B. Hodgkin of Altadena, California, today was re-elected director of the Farm Credit Administration for the 11th district. He was selected by farmers' co-operatives of California, Utah, Nevada and Arizona borrowing from the Berkeley Bank for Co-operatives as their representative on the board.

Hodgkin is a native of California, a graduate of the University of California, and was an aviator in the world war. Since 1924 he has been manager of the Calavo Growers of California and prior to that time was in the field department of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. He is one of the leaders in the co-operative movement on the West Coast.

Artist To Appear Here Sunday

Mrs. Evylena Nunn Miller, noted California artist and former Santa Ana teacher, shown above, appears on the 3 p. m. program Sunday in the Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum to present a preview of some of her recent paintings on autumn. Above is one of her paintings on Indian life, "Indian Country and Pueblos." Mrs. Miller frequently records the history and homes of the Pueblos on canvas, her task taking her to many strange places, introduces her to many unknown tribal customs and data.

NOTED ARTIST IN-PREVIEW OF PAINTINGS IN MUSEUM SUNDAY

Evylena Nunn Miller, well-known California artist and former Santa Ana high school teacher, will give a preview of a few of her most recent paintings of autumn in the mid-west Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Charles W. Bowers Memorial museum, 20th and Main streets, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator, announced today. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Unusual Training
Both before and after her connection with the Santa Ana school system, Mrs. Miller, who is among the foremost artists of the west, had unusual training in art work, claims as her Alma Mater, Occidental and Pomona colleges, Los Angeles Normal school and the University of California.

She also attended the New York Art Students' League, Berkshire Summer School of Art, had private lessons in painting, a world study.

Growers To Check Orchard Heaters At Night Session

An evening field meeting to observe various types of orchard heaters operating under night temperature conditions was announced today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg for next Thursday at 7:30 p. m. Approved methods of handling and regulating heaters to give the best protection with the least smoke will be demonstrated by members of the Extension Service staff.

Heaters in actual use will be used for the demonstration, so that growers may see the results under actual field conditions. Emphasis will be placed on economical operation as to time of lighting and rate of burning necessary for satisfactory protection.

Harold Rathbone of the U. S. Weather Bureau and W. R. Schoonover, University of California will participate in the field meeting.

AUXILIARY MEETS
LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 25.—The Woman's auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal church met recently at the home of Mrs. Frank G. Henderson, Three Arch Bay. Special guest was the Rev. Alfred G. Bussingham of South Dakota who related details of the work being carried on among the Sioux Indians of the Dakotas by the missionary clergy of the Episcopal faith. Following the talk, a generous offering for the field work described by the speaker was donated by the guests at the social tea which closed the afternoon meeting.

PACKAGE PLAN MEETS FAVOR

Announcement of a "happiness package" movement, launched this week as part of the national celebration of the silver jubilee of parcel post, was made today by Postmaster Frank R. Harwood.

Merchants Co-Operating
"Make somebody happy with a happiness package" is the slogan adopted by the local postal authorities. The idea, which originated with a woman postmaster in a country town, is to be pushed all during the holiday season until Christmas. Postmaster Harwood said. Chambers of commerce and local merchants in all cities are co-operating in this new movement. Washington advises to Postmaster Harwood state.

To a country woman in the little town of Winthrop, New York, almost credit for the "happiness package" slogan which has leaped into national attention and advertising space over night. She is Mrs. Ada J. Folsom, assistant postmaster of Winthrop, and the idea was born of her experience of the yearning of the average small town and farm resident, particularly the wives, for a gift package, especially one that comes to her as a surprise.

Tells Observations
Mrs. Folsom stated that she observed more gift packages are sent to the cities than to the country area; that it is common for the folks in the country to mail parcels of meat, fruit cakes and cookies, or other foods to their relatives and friends in the towns and cities. Gift mailings to the country, on the other hand, are nowhere near in proportion.

Business establishments in various cities have been quick to adopt the slogan, and are using it in their newspaper advertisements and window displays. As a result of the inspiration of this little woman postmaster in a country village, it is anticipated that this holiday season will see the largest movement of gift packages from the farms to the cities, and in turn from the cities to the rural areas, in the history of the postal service, Harwood said.

MAJORITY OF CANDIDATES ON FILE WITH CAMPAIGN OUTLAYS

The deadline for filing campaign expense statements, which came with the closing of the courthouse Wednesday, found most of the recent candidates for office on record with their lists of expenditures.

Topping the list was $1032.30, successful opponent, James L. Davis, expended $608.69. Supervisor N. E. Jackson, Sheriff-elect J. L. Elliott expended $994.12, his statement showed, this including $200 in contributions from Jack Wallace, Stanley Goode, George Raymer, Charles Givens, O. A. Jacobs, James R. Ragan, former Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Councilman Plummer Bruns, R. L. Ober, all of Santa Ana and Don Wilkie of Laguna Beach. Jackson reported no contributions to his campaign.

Others Are Listed
Superior Judge H. G. Ames' statement was $647.30. His unsuccessful opponent, James L. Davis, expended $608.69. Supervisor N. E. Jackson, Sheriff-elect J. L. Elliott expended $994.12, his statement showed, this including $200 in contributions from Jack Wallace, Stanley Goode, George Raymer, Charles Givens, O. A. Jacobs, James R. Ragan, former Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Councilman Plummer Bruns, R. L. Ober, all of Santa Ana and Don Wilkie of Laguna Beach. Jackson reported no contributions to his campaign.

BUREAU CHORUS PLANS CONCERT

Sunday, December 4, has been set for the second sacred concert offered to the public of Orange county by the farm bureau chorus, under direction of Monroe Sharpless, Fullerton Junior college.

The program consisting largely of sacred numbers appropriate to the Christmas season, will be presented as a Vesper service at 4:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church, Santa Ana.

The chorus of some 50 voices has been organized for two years and is sponsored by the Orange county farm bureau.

Popular at Conclaves
It has appeared before many farm audiences in the county and also participated in choral programs at the national farm bureau convention at Pasadena, the state farm bureau convention at Modesto last year, and recently at Sacramento.

The chorus ensemble at the Sacramento convention comprised of 422 voices from 15 counties in the state including the Orange county group. Its performance was adjudged by the music critic of the Sacramento Bee to be the finest ever offered to a Sacramento audience.

The farm bureau through its newly elected president, Ralph Hall, invites the public to the concert, one of the first Christmas presentations of the season.

IRRIGATION OF WALNUT GROVES IN COUNTY AREA RECOMMENDED

Most walnut orchards have had no irrigation since August or prior to the harvest season. Recent soil moisture tests made in local walnut orchards by Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg indicate a shortage of moisture, below that which is requisite for normal leaf and fruit bud development for the next season, he announced today.

"Owing to a desire on the part of most growers to economize on expenditures, many walnut growers have held off on irrigation, hoping to have sufficient water supplied by winter rain and thus avoid the cost of winter irrigation," Wahlberg states.

Test of Orchard
"However, this must not be carried to an extreme, since injury will be done to next year's crop if moisture reserves are not supplied prior to the beginning of growth in the spring.

"Some time during the winter the grower should test his orchard for depth of moisture and rainfall penetration.

"When applying irrigation water at this time of the year, care should be taken to keep the water about six to eight feet away from the trunk, as a precaution against wind lifting of the trees. A dry block sisters.

BOY IN COOKING CLASS

MARION, O. (UP)—Raymond Locke, 16-year-old Negro boy, who aspires to be a dining room chef, is the only boy enrolled in a cooking class of 23 girls at Central Junior high school. The deaths of his mother and older sister made it necessary for Raymond to cook for his father and nine brothers and sisters.

Harvest Ball Provides Delightful Evening
For Younger Set

The season was opened Wednesday night, for the sub-deb crowd by the annual high school Harvest Ball. Committees had planned that this should be the biggest dance of the school year, and Andrews symposium, decorated with a canopy of rich fall colors of yellow, orange and red, seemed very festive with the gay young couples.

Members of the faculty were issued invitations, and special invitations were sent to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farrar, and patrons, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer S. Sullivan, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Spicer. Tables of bridge had been planned and many members of the faculty arranged foursomes while others danced.

During intermission, door prizes were awarded, and "Waldo," a big fat turkey, was won by a lucky student.

Special Program

Howard Rapp, in charge of general arrangements, introduced Les Phillips of the Blue-Note Music company who presented his professional floor show. A tap dance was done in the style of Bill Robinson, by John Nash; Betty Courtney presented a toe tap; and the Harmonettes, Mary McDugal, Betty Haynes and Beverly Short sang two popular numbers, accompanied by Esther Shields. Frances Iams offered two Spanish dances with a floor show well completed with a saxophone solo by Phillips.

As the couples danced to the gay music many lovely gowns were seen; Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford in wine velvet; Mrs. Robert Farrar in blue velvet; Mrs. Frank A. Henderson in fuchsia red velvet; Mrs. Walter Spicer in a red georgette blouse with black crepe skirt; Mrs. Elmer S. Sullivan in teal blue; Miss Florence Beggs in Copenhagen blue; Miss Ruth McDunne in black lace; Miss Margaret Glenn in black velvet; Miss Doris R. Burke in blue crepe; and Miss Josephine Arnold in red crepe.

Young girls of the student body were quite as smartly costumed. They included the Misses Barbara Flower in blue slipper satin; Doris Jacobs in corse taffeta; Helen Crawford in royal blue taffeta and white lace; Katherine Mather in changeable taffeta; Betty De Gunther in red satin; Carol Brinkerhoff in red moire taffeta; Dorothy Parker in teal accented with rust; Rosemary Blodgett in blue net over taffeta; La Von Gold in old rose net; Marjorie Wall in champagne taffeta; with black bolero; Katherine Hambricht in white velvet jacket over blue chiffon; Olive Arnette in blue net over white taffeta; Lillian Breax in changeable blue taffeta; Darlene Sherkey in red taffeta; Rhoda Timmons in teal taffeta; Bettie Lay in red taffeta; Juanita Hovington in gold doilman sleeve blouse over black moire taffeta; Betty Hayes in aqua moire taffeta; Verna Bello Maroney in corse chiffon.

Popular Home Holiday Sees
Countless Family Reunions

With feasting and rejoicing, the greeting of old friends and welcoming new ones, Thanksgiving has come and gone. But its happy memories remain to brighten the lives for those who received guests in their homes, or were cordially greeted by other equally friendly hosts.

FAMILY PARTY

Coming from their present home in Costa Mesa to be dinner hosts to their children and grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. George Ragan staged their Thanksgiving hospitality early yesterday afternoon at Danigers.

One of their sons, Rex Ragan, is a member of the faculty at University of Southern California. He and his wife and their young daughter and son, Nancy and Donald Ragan, were joined by the Paul Ragans of this city, with their sons, Bruce and Terry Ragan, in sharing the hospitality of their parents. After a leisurely dinner hour, the party scene was transferred to the Paul Ragan home, 1320 Martha Lane, where motion pictures of various interesting journeys, including a voyage to Honolulu, were shown.

TO POINT LOMA

Motoring down to Point Loma near San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Philbrook and their daughters, the Misses Frances and Charlotte Philbrook, 1402 West Eighth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Armand L. Faccou end baby daughter Marilyn, 1404 West Seventh street, joined a delightful party entertained yesterday in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson. This was little Miss Marilyn Faccou's first holiday event, for she was born in mid-September.

In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Reed were the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nugent with their little granddaughter Betty; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nugent Jr., Miss Eva Deane Caskey, Miss Gladys Fiffeld, Rex Fiffeld, who has arrived from Phoenix for the holiday week-end; Sherman Nugent, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Litchfield, Mrs. Rachel Lewis, all of this city; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Babbs of Boise and their house-guest, James Faught of Ponca City, Okla.

Many Reminiscences

That spacious orange grove home of Mrs. Nellie Young at 2727 North Flower street, was thrown open in hospitality yesterday to relatives and friends of the hostess, all of whom spent a thoroughly enjoyable Thanksgiving.

The big table where a holiday feast was served complete from roast turkey to mince pie, had grapes, gourds, leaves and grasses as an artistic centerpiece. Small gourds make unique nut cups at the places.

reunion. Mr. Eaton arrived from the ranch home while others in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Prescott and son Harry, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erving, all of Corona; Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ewing and son, Philip Lawrence of Laguna Beach and Miss Rena Ewing of Los Angeles.

On Thanksgiving Eve, Mrs. Eaton and Miss Paddock were members of another pleasant family party with a gala holiday feast in the delightful Spanish home of the L. W. Eatons on East Ball road, Anaheim.

Vancouver Guests

Arriving from their home in Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Duke are dividing their Santa Ana stay between the homes of the George E. Ashmans at 1402 South Ross street, and the Forest L. Dukes on South Van Ness avenue.

Yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Ashman entertained an intimate little group for holiday dinner, the first group to have had in the new home of which they so recently took occupancy. In the party with Mr. and Mrs. James Duke were Mr. and Mrs. Forest Duke, and Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Edwards of Wilmington.

Several members of Santa Ana Country club took guests to the clubhouse for Thanksgiving dinner. Among those who made reservations were Messrs. and Mesdames A. W. Metzger, L. L. Carden, A. G. Flagg, J. E. Liebig, C. O. Norton and J. B. MacMullen.

Among the many who gave their Thanksgiving dinner at Danigers were the Wendell Finleys, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman and Miss Olive Wherry.

Both noon-day dinner and evening supper were special occasions yesterday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Theo A. Winbigger, 207 East Ninth street. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Winbigger, were members of a party motoring into Los Angeles to see the U.S.C.-U.C.L.A. game, returning for the evening supper.

The Ernest Winbigger's older daughter, Miss Elizabeth Winbigger, who is attending Woodbury School of Costume Design in Los Angeles, is home for the holiday week-end. She and her sister and brother, Janice and Bobbie, with Mrs. Lucy Evans, former Santa Ana now living in Los Angeles and Mrs. Emmett Elliott, comprised the group dining with Mr. and Mrs. Winbigger at mid-day. The three young people joined their parents again for the evening.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY A L. O. T.—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.
DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday: Marvel's unpopularity increases, but for Dwight's sake Judy vows to attend her housewarming, to see that her father, the Admiral, attends also.

CHAPTER XVI

IT was not easy to tell her mother that she had openly championed Marvel, openly asserted that Admiral Alcott would appear at the housewarming. But she stumbled through it, and her mother said pityingly, "I see, Judy. That's what Dwight asked when he came the other night?" She ruffled the girl's silky hair. "I know you want to do your best for him. Very well, then. I—I'll speak to your father."

So the thing was settled, and the night of the housewarming a long line of cars crawled to a stop in front of Marvel's house. Judy wondered if Marvel even knew how close her party had come to failure.

But when she and Jack Hanley were inside, greeting their hostess, she realized that Marvel didn't have the faintest inkling. Such a thing had never occurred to her. She was really magnificent in her self-assurance. And there were other people present.

Outside friends. A tall, thin girl with scarlet fingernails and a queer, short hairdo. "Kay Rosette, the cinema star," said Marvel. "You'll love her. She's so unique."

"This is Cary Tennant," Marvel said, a moment later, and Judy looked up into the narrow, sardonic eyes of the man she had seen twice before. In the Paradise, and at the wedding.

"How do you do?" Judy murmured.

"Charmed," said Mr. Tennant, and his thin face smiled. But his eyes didn't smile.

"All the naval regalia makes me feel just a bit effete," he said to Jack. "Yes. Navy boys are such virile blokes."

Jack said, "Hornyhanded, hairy-chested," and grinned. But Judy sensed that he didn't like Cary Tennant any better than she did.

The house that Marvel's decorator had evolved was a thing of black floors, angled sofas, extremely low chairs, and whole walls of mirror glass. There were white gazelles on glass-topped tables; white rugs in little splotches on the dark floor; gleaming chromium.

"It looks like a machine shop," said Jack.

"Hush!" It was really imposing, if you cared for modernity. But Judy didn't. She had always liked old mahogany and Virginia sofas.

Kay Rosette, on being presented to Admiral Alcott, informed him that her last picture had been a Navy picture. "We had the most distinguished Englishman playing the role of Admiral."

"I don't doubt," said Judy's father solemnly, "but that he looked the part much more than I do."

Kay Rosette's stiff-lashed, hazel eyes opened wide. "I didn't mean that at all. Dear me, Admiral. I am really too much in awe of you to indulge in—"

"Don't be, my dear. I'm merely human."

"But Marvel says the whole setup is too, too overpowering. She had me actually believing I'd have to curtsy."

Dwight hastily put in a respectful word or two, and Kay Rosette drifted off. Captain and Mrs. Lane, who were politely trying not to stare at the hooting, shouting group across the room, came up. Judy said, "I don't believe I've met all the people."

Dwight said, "That's Cary Tennant's group, making the noise. They're nice when you know them. Shall I take you over there?"

JUDY found that the center of the merrymaking was a young debutante called "Slim" Jarrett. She was ugly in an animated way, and Judy guessed that her personality was famous among her friends. She was that sort. "Slim" pounced on Judy. "You're the typical Navy girl Dwight is telling us about. You'd be at home in a trunk, or in Guam, or in the jungle, isn't that right?"

"You've got me mixed with the Englishman who dresses for dinner," said Judy.

Dwight grinned. Judy met Diane's eyes. Diane and Bill and Magda Hamilton and her husband were standing near a bookcase. They had been reading the titles of the books.

A Chinese servant carrying a tray of cocktail glasses circulated among the guests. Marvel said, "If anybody wants to dance, I've had the back porch changed into a sort of patio."

People trooped through the dining room, out the French doors passing mark he gets by handing in another's work as his own means nothing. If he is called on, in a test, for the work, he falls. If the teacher feels he knows something, that he has acquired experience for further work, she is mistaken, and again he fails. The failure is certain, and often it is disconcerting to the pupil who did the cheating.

Every once in a while a pupil who has not shone much in class does brilliantly in a final test. He has been studying, working, doing his bit day by day and acquiring experiences and power gradually. When his learning has had time to season, and his acquired power has been concentrated on a job, he does exceedingly well. Honest work never fails.

The pupil who has done as little as possible, has taken help wherever he could get it, has allowed others to do his work for him, has saved himself any effort and any pains in learning, fails at the crucial moment because he has not prepared for it. Cheating is about the most useless form of dishonesty imaginable, and the most self-punishing.

HOME LESSONS

"Finished your homework, Thomas?"

"All but my meaning and use." "Well, go ahead and do them. It is getting late. Now turn off that radio and do your work."

"Wait 'til I finish this program, Mom. Then I'll do them."

"Well, don't be long because it is getting late."

That program was finished and another begun. Thomas went into the kitchen for refreshments, returned to the living-room, held an argument with his sister about using a note book which he said was his and which she as firmly declared was hers, went back to the radio, turned and twiddled the knobs and made unearthy noises until father yelled, "Stop that!"

"Thomas, did you do your meaning and use yet?"

"O, Mom, I'm too tired. I'm half asleep. I have ten words to do in sentences. You do them for me. I have to go to bed. I'm dead."

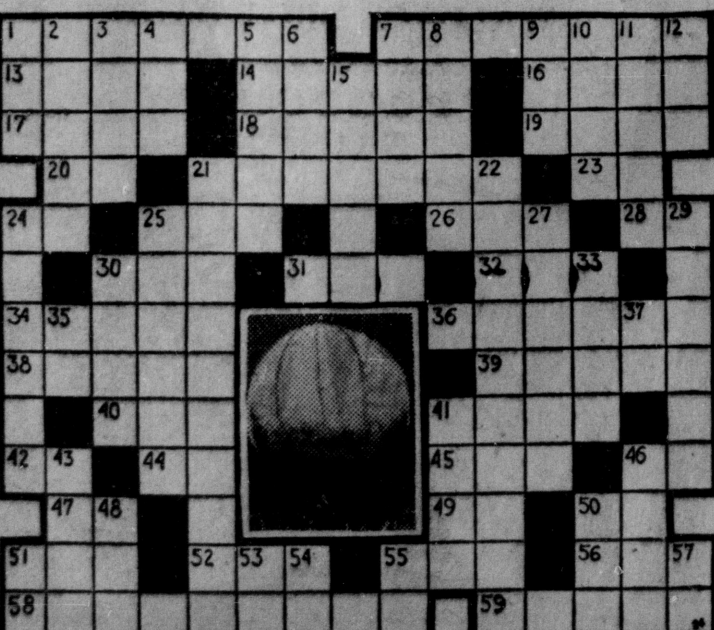

"That's the way. You fool around until it is bedtime and then you're dead and I must help you out. Now this is the last time. Remember. Tomorrow night you sit down right after dinner and do your lessons. I mean it."

"All right, ma. Good night, everybody. I'm dead."

Mother did the ten words, definitions and sentences, and next day son read them to the teacher and handed them in as his home lesson. What mattered about it was that the boy gave in work as his which he had not done. He had lost the benefit of the experience the work might have given him; he lost the real value of his home lesson. He had not learned anything worthwhile and he had learned something detrimental to his character. He had learned to cheat. And his good mother had helped him.

The only value a home lesson has is what effort it demands of the pupil; what personal experience it gives him; what he learns out of the experience. If he does nothing he gains nothing. The

TENNESSEE IN LINE FOR TRIP TO ROSE BOWL

BY LESLIE AVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK — Today's most likely Rose Bowl opponents: Southern California and Tennessee.

These two universities made commanding bids for the Tournament of Roses recognition by overwhelming traditional Turkey Day opponents.

Tennessee's bid may be less commanding, however, after Duke and Texas Christian show their full hands in games tomorrow. And the western area may be turned up without a play Monday when Pacific Coast conference members vote on whether Southern Cal or California, tied for the conference title, will be their representative.

The Trojans advanced their claim and won a tie for the conference title by swamping U. C. L. A. 42-7. They are now favored for the Bowl bid because they had defeated the Bears 13-7, and their margin over U. C. L. A. was more convincing than California's 20-7 victory. Already beaten by Alabama and Washington, the Trojans are due for still another defeat, because on Dec. 3 they face Notre Dame, outstanding candidate for mythical National championship honors, but one that will not consider a bowl bid.

Mississippi Still Ahead
Tennessee, who with Notre Dame belongs to the nation's "Big Five" undefeated, untied eleven, clinched the Southeastern conference title by walloping Kentucky 46-0. While the Vols must be rated the No. 1 contender for the Eastern Bowl bid today, they must beat a powerful Mississippi team Dec. 3 to keep their hopes alive.

Texas Christian, rated second only to Notre Dame, can strengthen its bid for a Rose Bowl invitation with a convincing victory over Southern Methodist in the deciding game of the Southwest conference game tomorrow.

Duke, only surviving major unscathed on team in the country, could vault into top favor for the Tournament of Roses honor by conquering Pitt tomorrow. Oklahoma, the other major perfect record team, apparently has two pushovers in its remaining games against Oklahoma Aggies tomorrow and Washington State the following Saturday.

Following Thanksgiving Day's 35-game schedule, tomorrow's 28 tilts will virtually close the season, although several good games will be played next weekend.

Features of yesterday's game included:
East—Cornell clinched the "Ivy League" title although held to a surprising 0-0 tie by Penn; Brown licked Columbia 36-27; Villanova blanked Manhattan 20-0 and West Virginia nosed George Washington 7-6.

South—Alabama edged Vanderbilt 7-0; Clemson took Furman 10-7; Carnegie Tech beat North Carolina State 14-0; Miami upset Bucknell 19-0; North Carolina shut out Virginia 20-0 and Maryland bested W. & L., 19-13.

Midwest—In Big Six conference games, Missouri defeated Kansas 13-7, and Nebraska beat Kansas State 14-7.

Southwest—Texas nosed Texas Aggies 7-6; Centenary won over Louisiana 14-7; and Arkansas was held to a 6-6 tie by Tulsa.

Far West—Denver licked Colorado 19-12; Montana scored 7-0 over Arizona; New Mexico downed Colorado State 27-7.

Turkey And Giblet Gravy Bring Vow From 'Man Always Wrong'

BY HENRY MCLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BAKERSFIELD, Cal.—This is the first open letter I ever wrote in my life.

It is addressed to every man, woman and child, sane or otherwise, who reads the stories I wrote about sports.

The purpose of the open letter is to thank every one of you for a swell Thanksgiving.

I had turkey and I had dressing. I had cranberry sauce and giblet gravy. I had half the vegetable that grow in the ground and half the fruits that grow above it.

I owe it all to you. Because if it were not for you, and your patience with me, I would have had a Thanksgiving dinner or nothing more difficult to carve than hamburger. Since last Thanksgiving you have borne with me through many perilous days. Plymouth Rock was never stancher.

What a pick I gave you in the last Rose Bowl. I begged and implored you to get aboard Alabama, a sure thing, and Alabama wound up losing from here to Wales.

I entreated you, dropped to my knees in the best Johnson manner, and asked you to believe me when I said that Schmeling was a cinch to knock out Joe Louis and become the first man in history to regain the heavyweight championship of the world. Even Hitler knows what happened to Schmeling. He was knocked out so quick that his head coming in met his feet going out.

From Louisville I sent you word that the Derby winner would be Bull Lea, a fat and sassy son of Bull Dog and Rose Leaves, or something like that. I even went so far as to suggest that you rob baby's bank and bet it all on this horse. For all I know Bull Lea is still trying to cover the mile-and-a-quarter Derby distance. The last time I saw him he was staggering into the backstretch, sending up distress signals, while his jockey frantically stuffed S.O.S. messages into bottles and dropped them overboard.

Tennis season arrived and I was the first out with a prediction that Margot Lumb of England would win the women's championship, and that only institution cases would fail to have a wager down on her chances. Margot didn't win. After a brief flurry, she subsided and was heard of no more.

I proved a traitor in golf. When Sammy Snead and Paul Runyan went out in the P.G.A. finals you had my solemn promise that "Slammin' Sammy" would win in a walk. The only walk Sammy got was from the 30th or so hole where Runyan finished him.

Polo was the same, and so were all the other sports.

Yet you stuck by me. Your letters to me were written in a spirit of I. p.fulness. No mother wrote to an erring son in a more kindly vein than you did to me. I don't think more than 90 per cent of you suggested that I go out and cut my throat, and fewer than 99 per cent of you were so cruel as to ask how in the living world I ever got to be a sports writer.

These letters I treasured, especially on cold mornings when there was nothing else to start a fire with. Their sentiment I held close to my heart, just as a man would a king cobra or a buzz saw.

And so on yesterday, when I bit into my hamburger—pardon my turkey—I made a pledge, dear readers, that your kindness would not go unrewarded, and that between now and next Thanksgiving I would give you a winner. It may come as a Valentine's Day present, or an Arbor Day gift, or a surprise on McKinley's birthday. But it will come, just as sure as two and two make six.

Believe Troy's Smashing Win Over Bruins Cinched Bowl Bid

BERKELEY — (UP) — University of California's prospects for a return engagement at the Rose Bowl suffered a serious jolt when Southern California swamped U. C. L. A. 42-7 yesterday. It was freely admitted on the campus today.

Although he was still cheerful, Kenneth Priestley, graduate manager, spoke with awe of the lacing handed the Bruins by the Trojans.

"The sure poured it on," said Priestley.

Asked how the outcome of the game might affect the telegraphic vote for the Western Rose Bowl representative, Priestley said: "I'd rather not comment. There's plenty of time for that after the selection is made."

LOS ANGELES—Southern California's Rose Bowl stock soared today as the Trojans stiffened their claim to the New Year's game with the most lopsided victory of the Pacific Coast conference football season—a stunning 42-7 rout of U.C.L.A.

Actually the Trojans are deadlocked with California for the coast title and both have an equal chance for the Bowl bid that will be awarded Monday, but nobody in this town would believe it. Los Angeles fans firmly held the 42-7 triumph—largest scored by U.S.C. in seven years—clinched the Pasadena classic for Troy.

California and U.S.C. are tied for the crown with six victories and one defeat. The 10 conference members will vote Monday to determine which of the leaders will carry the western banner Jan. 2. Six votes are necessary to obtain the bid.

The 42-7 victory may easily have been the clincher for S.C. The Trojans spotted U.C.L.A. a touchdown by fumbling the kickoff and didn't obtain the ball until the game was 10 minutes off. A pass, Kenny Washington to Woodrow Strode, and a conversion by John Frawley, gave the Bruins a 7-0 lead.

But in the second period U.S.C. began counting points, 13 of them. Jimmy Jones romped 43 yards on a reverse to the U.C.L.A. 1 and Jack Banta plunged for a touchdown. Several minutes later Al Krueger grabbed a Bruin pass in midfield and doped 50 yards to a second score. The try for point was good and N.S.C. left the field with a 13-7 advantage at the half.

On a second half stampede reminiscent of the power-drunk days of 1923-1932, Troy started on the U.C.L.A. 47 and went 53 yards to a touchdown in 10 plays with Grenville Lansell scoring from the 3 and adding the point.

Another drive carried the Trojans to the U.C.L.A. 1 and on the next play U.S.C. scored a safety when a Bruin pass was grounded behind the goal.

Three touchdowns were added in the final quarter although Coach Howard Jones sent in numerous subs. A march of 56 yards in 10 plays found Oliver Day scoring.

ing from the 1, and another of 16 yards in seven plays ended with Day going over again from the 2. Mickey Anderson, with a third strong team in front of him, sparked the final tally. Troy marched 40 yards in six plays and Roy Engle crossed the line.

The statistics bore out the U.S.C. margin. Troy gained 232 yards and 13 first downs to 44 yards and 5 first downs for U.C.L.A.

Heinrich intercepted Minter's pass on the 45. Heinrich gained 15 yards on a spread to Hornet 30. Henderson circled end for 4. Arnett passed in flat to Beck who rammed 26 yards for touch down. Nesmith's attempted conversion was wide. Santa Ana 13; Fullerton 6.

Hendricks returned Nesmith's kickoff 25 to Fullerton's 40. Hendricks' punt was downed by Gavin on Don 14. Henderson made 9 at tackle. Henderson hit same hole for 7 and a first down on Don 30. Henderson ran left end for 20 yards to Don 45. Borden hit tackle for 3. Henderson at guard for 3 but Dons were penalized 15 to Don 38. Borden punted to Minter who returned 19 to Hornet 25.

Henderson intercepted Minter's pass on Fullerton 33. Fullerton held and Stafford punted over goal. Pickett made 4. Minter passed to Gavin for a first down on Don 42. Minter passed to Hendricks who lateraled to R. Pickett for 8. Dons were penalized 15 yards for unnecessary roughness, giving Fullerton a first down on the Don 27.

PITT ALUMNI URGE SCHOLARSHIP PROBE

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The wall of Pittsburgh university freshmen football players for gift scholarships got action today. "Old grads" of the great Panther teams of the past demanded—and were granted—an official investigation of a controversy which had threatened to relegate future Pitt teams to a secondary standard.

University Chancellor John G. Bowman announced he would investigate claims of freshmen players that they had signed promissory notes for scholarship payments "as a mere formality" only to learn last week that they were binding and must be paid either in cash or by work.

R. Pickett cracked tackle for 3. Minter's pass over goal fell incomplete. Minter's third down pass into end zone to Bandy was ruled a touchdown over bitter Santa Ana protests. Moody added the extra point from placement. Santa Ana 13; Fullerton 12.

Moody kicked off to Borden who returned 10 to Don 31. Fullerton held and Saunders punted to Fullerton 25. Minter circled end for 5. Pickett's punt was partially blocked, going out on Hornet 44. (Timekeeper announced 26 second to go.) Borden's pass was incomplete. Monroy dropped back to pass ran, left end for a first down on the Hornet 30. (Two seconds to go.) Minter passed to Calaway in the flat complete. Calaway was thrown out of bounds on Fullerton's 4 yard line as the gun sounded. Santa Ana 13; Fullerton 13.

WORLD WELTER CHAMPIONSHIP STAKE TONIGHT

Radio KECA will broadcast the Henry Armstrong-Ceferino Garcia fight at 7 p. m. Orange county time.

By HARRY FERGUSON
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—Disregarding the old one about how a good big man can always lick a good little man the citizens of New York and way stations made "little" Henry Armstrong practically a 2 to 1 favorite today over "big" Ceferino Garcia in their 15-round fight for the welterweight championship tonight.

It was a far more eloquent tribute to Armstrong than the tough little Negro ever heard in a blood-spattered ring—this before the battle betting in which, truly, money talks louder than words.

For the customers are striding along with Henry the Hammer in a fight against a bigger, heavier man. Garcia stands almost two inches taller than Armstrong, will outweigh him approximately 12 pounds and will bring into the ring a twisting right uppercut, which is called a bolo punch and is almost as deadly as the Philippine cane-cutting knife for which it was named.

Bettors Like Armstrong
Why all this Armstrong money then? Because the cold calculators who bet on fights like Henry's eternal drive and will to win, like the way he fights "em all from featherweights to welterweights, like the courage he showed against Lou Ambers when he swallowed a pint of blood and took so much punishment that he was an added man and started for the wrong corner when the referee told him he had won the decision.

The odds—8 to 5, to be exact—may shorten before nightfall, but it seems certain that Armstrong is going in there the favorite. Garcia's backers can't figure why. They argue that much of the Armstrong money has been put up because lots of people will string with a champion until he is beaten, and though his weight is closer to that of a lightweight than a welterweight, Henry is the welterweight champion.

This one was to have taken place three weeks ago, but Armstrong thing he knew his shadow had started doing some shadow boxing for the cameramen and the first floored him. He slipped on a mat and injured his back so badly physicians said it would be impossible to fight.

DETROIT'S RECORD HAS BRONCS PUZZLED
SACRAMENTO—(UP)—Santa Clara, held to a lone touchdown by four teams and blanked by St. Mary's, looked apprehensively today at the record of Detroit, its interseasonal foe in Sacramento.

Although losing four games, Detroit has scored at least once on every opponent, including undefeated Villanova and the Purdue Boilermakers, beaten only by Minnesota. The Titans have run up from 6 to 35 points against North Dakota, North Carolina State, Tulsa, Duquesne and Catholic. The Broncos are favored to win after a close game.

FERNIE BACA, LAWS HEADLINE RING BILL
Ferne Baca, Santa Ana's slug-fighter who is standing at the entrance of a professional ring career, fights "Chuck" Laws of Los Angeles next Monday night at the Orange County Athletic club.

In the second half of a double main event, Paul Garcia of Wilmington battles Wilbur Wilkes of Los Angeles.

Matchmaker Frankie Lockhart announced that an Orange County fighter has been signed for every fight with the exception of the second spot in the double main.

In the semi-windup Benny Garcia of Santa Ana battles Jimmy Woods at 124 pounds and in the feature Jimmy Merced of Placentia opposes Freddie Garco.

SANTA CLAUS CALLS EARLY

There's always something doing in as well as AFTER a Santa Ana-Fullerton football game. You always can count on the Dons and the Yellowjackets being different.

In 1929, on a play that started before but ended after the final gun, Santa Ana completed a pass that went for a touchdown and gave the Dons a championship. That still goes as the most exciting football game the Dons and 'Jackets ever played.

In 1933, there was a shoving incident that involved the great Ray Hapes on a successful end zone pass by Fullerton. That was a bitter pill for the Yellowjackets to swallow because their touchdown was nullified and Santa Ana went on to squeeze out a win, although outgained.

In 1935, there was much ado alleged pass-interference by Oliver McCarter at the 6-yard line that set up Fullerton for the only touchdown of the series' biggest upset.

And yesterday, I suspect that old Santa Claus, Kris Kringle himself, called exactly one month early at Fullerton and made the Yellowjackets a gift of a tying touchdown. But this will be argued as long as football is played or watched by those who were in the stadium.

I've been hustling news too long and have had too many such stories explode in my face to blow a whistle on the officials who "worked" the Thanksgiving Day "Big Little Game." Anyway, though fate dealt me a good hand and I drew a seat immediately above the corner of the field where the disputed pass was or was not consummated—I would not take an oath that Ray Bandal did or did not make the catch.

I THOUGHT the ball was grounded and still THINK so, but yet I would hesitate to say so in a court of law although most everybody around me, including Fullerton fans, argued that the ball hit the ground and that Bandal, a fast-thinking lad, clutched it to his chest during a wild scramble for the free ball. Many fans have telephoned The Register today, claiming they were in the immediate vicinity of the transaction and their testimony was that the pass actually was knocked down and grounded by Jack Lentz, one of the three Dons who battled Bandal for the ball.

As Minter's throw started it looked to be an easy one for the Dons to knock down. "Chuck" Stafford was there in his halfback position and Lentz and Johnny Joseph both faded back with Bandal. It was a high toss, not one of those bullet-like shots, so everybody had plenty of time to get under it. Bandal, Stafford and the Lentz jumped simultaneously. I thought Stafford hit the ball first. It fell straight down. Everybody grabbed for it. There was a pileup immediately.

Umpire Motts Blair was standing not five yards from the play but I sensed he couldn't see what was going on in that pack of swirling players. He looked wildly in the direction of Referee Roy Jellison who was way back on the 30-yard line, behind the passer. Jellison looked back at Blair and ran to the corner of the field. They started unwinding the players and about that time Head Lineman Malcolm Smith, who was on the opposite side of the field and at least 50 yards from the pileup, arrived on the scene. When they got down to Bandal he had the ball, legally or not.

Members of both squads surrounded the officials. The thing got out of hand. There was pushing and shoving. Finally, Jellison had enough presence of mind to dismiss the players and "huddle" with Blair and Smith. The latter expressed an opinion Bandal had caught the ball. Then Jellison held his hands aloft in the sign of peace.

Beck Races to Touchdown
After a scoreless third quarter, fought mostly near midfield, the Dons scored their second touchdown right after Art Heinrich intercepted one of Minter's passes at midfield and returned 5 yards to

It's just as well that Santa Ana and Fullerton weren't playing for anything except "tradition" or else there would have been a hot time in the old town last night.

Had a championship changed hands on their 13-13 tie in Fullerton's stadium yesterday more than a simple dispute might have followed an official ruling that gave the Yellowjackets a touchdown after a free-for-all scramble for an end zone pass in the last few minutes of play.

Did Ray Bandal, Fullerton end actually catch Aubrey Minter's pass which held the Dons to their fifth of the season, or did he gather it into his arms after the ball touched the turf?

Typical Don-Hornet Finish
That question, typical of many controversial Don-Hornet finishes, was being argued pro and con to the delight of supporters and players of both schools as they hashed over the thrilling five minutes as an otherwise listless "Little Big Game."

The disputed play terminated an 80-yard drive by Fullerton.

On third down, Minter tossed a looping pass from the 27-yard line over the goal. The ball fell into a group of three Santa Ana players and Bandal Jack Lentz, Don center, who went back to protect on passes, said he grounded the ball in the end zone and then let go of it fearing it might be a safety and two points for Fullerton. Lentz's statement is verified by spectators near the corner of the field by Teammate Johnny Joseph and Charles Stafford who also were in the play.

Roy Jellison, the referee, and Motts Blair, the umpire, admitted they did not see the play. Blair was within five yards of the play, but said his view was obscured by the mass of players. Head Lineman Malcolm Smith, however, came running across the field where the controversy was raging among the officials and players. He ruled that Bandal caught the ball while lying near the corner of the field. Referee Jellison accepted Smith's decision and awarded Fullerton a touchdown.

Adds Extra Point
When Ken Pickett added the extra point from placement it gave Fullerton a 13 to 13 tie. They were just enough time left for a few plays and Santa Ana put on a wild rally that died on Fullerton's 2-yard line.

Santa Ana got off to a running start and was always ahead until the "photo finish." After Fullerton's first bid petered out, the 'Jackets punted to Santa Ana's 16. Larry Timken broke loose around left end for 26 yards. Carroll Joy passed 20 yards to Vic Lindskog for a first down on Fullerton's 36, a forward-lateral to Timken and Mickelwait gained 8 and then Joy connected to Ted DeVellis for a perfect touchdown pass in the end zone. DeVellis' kick by himself, Fullerton's secondary letting him get past it. Rollo Beck kicked goal and it looked like the Dons were going to have a romp.

But "Lil' Aubrey" Minter, Fullerton's dusky quarterback, put the Yellowjackets right back in the ball game in the second quarter when he caught a punt on his 45 and went all the way, 55 yards, to a touchdown. Apparently bottled up, Minter reversed his field and found himself in the open with a couple of blockers. But Santa Ana remained in front 7-6 when big Wes Mulkins, left tackle, broke through and blocked Ken Pickett's try for the extra point.

Beck Races to Touchdown
After a scoreless third quarter, fought mostly near midfield, the Dons scored their second touchdown right after Art Heinrich intercepted one of Minter's passes at midfield and returned 5 yards to Fullerton's 45. With the start of the fourth period, Lynn Arnett rammed 15 yards on a spread and then fired a flat pass to Beck, who streaked along the sidelines for a touchdown on a 26-yard run. Nesmith's try for extra point was wide by several feet, leaving the score 13-6.

The Hornets drove 80 yards for their disputed touchdown, starting with 7 minutes to play. Ralph Pickett picked up 4 yards at guard. Minter passed to Bill Gaven on the 50 yard line and Gavin galloped down to the 45. Minter then passed to Hendricks who lateraled to Ralph Pickett for an 8 yard gain. The Dons were penalized 15 yards for piling upon Pickett and that put the ball on Santa Ana's 27. Pickett hit tackle for 3. Minter then fired a pass which was nearly caught by Bandal in the end zone. On third down Minter passed again over the Don goal. The controversial touchdown followed.

The Dons didn't give up! Taking the ball on Fullerton's 44 yard line when Pickett's kick was partially blocked, the Dons drove down to the Fullerton 3 yard line in 26 seconds.

Larry Monroy ran left end for 14 yards and a first down on the Fullerton 30. Monroy then passed to Cal Calaway in the flat and Calaway ran down the sidelines to the 2 yard line where he was tackled and driven out of bonds as the gun sounded.

TUSTIN BATTLES JORDAN IN C. I. F. GAME

TEAMS CLASH UNDER LIGHTS AT LONG BEACH

Tustin, the little David of the C. I. F. playoffs, goes out shooting for big game tonight.

The undefeated Tustin met Jordan high school's Sunset league champions at 7:30 in a first round game for the Southern California prep football championship. They clash on the Long Beach junior college gridiron on Highway No. 18 at Lakewood and Lincoln boulevards. The winner enters the semi-finals next week against Santa Barbara, which yesterday eliminated Beringer. Coach Russ Wilson of Tustin personally scouted Santa Barbara.

Jordan is almost universally picked to hang the seasons first "shiner" on the Tustinites yet the Orange league titlist has a fast, hustling club and they figure to be in the ball game all the way. They won't need many breaks to win.

The teams have faced only two common opponents, Jordan and Tustin both beat Huntington Beach by the same margin, 12-0, but Jordan shellacked Anaheim, 20-0 and Tustin had a tough time edging out Anaheim in the last few seconds, 7-6. Season records:

TUSTIN	JORDAN
Tustin 12, Huntington Beach 0.	Jordan 20, Coronado 18.
Tustin 7, Anaheim 6.	Jordan 6, Leuzinger 7.
Tustin 84, Valencia 0.	Jordan 12, Huntington Beach 0.
Tustin 12, Laguna Beach 7.	Jordan 19, Orange 6.
Tustin 19, Garden Grove 6.	Jordan 7, Newport Harbor 7.
Tustin 31, Capistrano 0.	Jordan 20, Anaheim 6.
Tustin 6, Brea-Olinda 0.	Jordan 13, Excelsior 6.

Tustin's big gun is Harold Lilley, 163-pound quarterback, who is considered the best prep ball-carrier in Orange county and one of the ablest in Southern California. A transfer from Capistrano last year, Lilley also ranks high as a punter. Other Tustin standouts are Walt Linker, 164-pound fullback, a powerful runner and blocker, and strong on defense. John Osterman, 157, light as tackles go, has been another Tustin bulwark. Two weeks ago Tustin lost one of its best men, Vic Linker, all-county end in '37, because of the 20-year age limit.

Hoye Stewart, 160-pounder, and Glenn Shoop, 150, are Jordan's ace and they've run for tremendous yardage behind strong blocking and a snappy line that will outweigh Tustin's about 10 pounds to the man. Stewart played end last season but became a powerhouse fullback. Quarterback Shoop, a speed-burner and shifty along with his fleetness, is capable of turning a game into a rout unless opposition ends and tackles watch him closely.

Another good back is Howard Gaspar, who transferred from Huntington Beach.

Known as the Panthers, the Jordan squad is coached by Rocky Kemp, formerly of Woodrow Wilson Lineups:

signal of a touchdown. Joseph, Stafford and Lentz, who said they were fit to be tied but they had to take it and like it.

Lentz swore he personally caught the ball before it hit the ground.

"The thought flashed through my head that it would be a safety so I dropped it and Banel picked it up," said Lentz.

Coach Bill Cook, who discussed the incident with all three officials in the calm after the storm, said he believed Lentz and the other Dons, but "that there is nothing we can do about it. The score is still a tie and will go down on the records as a tie."

Cook took the Dons' fifth tie philosophically but declared the ruling should be a lesson to a pinch-penny policy of having only three instead of four officials.

"A field judge would have been in position to see what really was going on," Cook contended.

The program, aside from these three games, is pretty thin. Santa

PINEHURST—Those here to see the professional golfers off on another winter gold rush hear only this section of the south has ever experienced.

Gridiron addicts of North Carolina's tobacco triangle and for miles around it are getting out their old-fashioned over-sized dollar bills oiling themselves and their puddle jumpers up and generally making ready for what is more than the biggest football week-end in the history of this section.

It will be the greatest and grandest week-end of the pigskin pastime ever staged below the Mason-Dixon line—from the Texas Panhandle to Baltimore.

The reason for all this is that Carnegie Tech and Pittsburgh were scheduled to play against two of the tobacco triangle's best teams ... in the space of three days, Bill Kern's Tartans met North Carolina State in Raleigh on Thanksgiving Day.

The Panthers clash with Wallace Wade's Blue Devils in Durham, just 25 miles from Raleigh, on Saturday.

While the N. C. State-Carnegie game attracted only about 20,000, the battle between Duke and Pitt will undoubtedly set a new attendance high for southern football.

Duke has installed thousands of temporary seats to enlarge its stadium which normally seats 35,000.

Duke already has the record of the biggest football crowd in Dixie history. It was established when 42,880 watched the Blue Devils upset North Carolina's previously unbeaten Tar Heels in 1935.

DISTANCE MEANS LITTLE TO DIXIE FOOTBALL FANS

Down here the fanatics come in large numbers from points as far away as 350 miles. That is necessary for a crowd of big size because of the scattered population.

This fall's double-header attracted fans in big numbers from points even farther afield. Pittsburgh's rooters came in special trains to enjoy Thanksgiving week-end by watching their two favorite teams close the 1938 campaign.

Many Pittsburghers came to Durham a year ago when the Panthers climaxed an unbeaten season with a 10-0 triumph over the Blue Devils. There was a crowd of more than 40,000 in the stands that day. Pittsburghers liked the week-end in beautiful North Carolina, returned home and told their friends.

Never before in southern football history have three of the nations top-ranking teams been scheduled to play during so short a time. Pitt, Duke, and Carnegie Tech are ranked in the first 10.

Pitt's Panthers came to Durham once wounded. They see in wrecking the Blue Devils a chance to regain a lot of lost prestige. They may have the ammunition with which to do it, but there are lots of folks in this section straining along with Wallace Wade's boys.

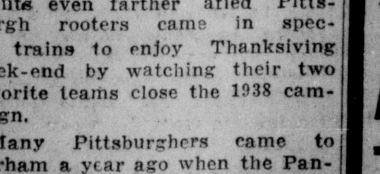

There will be plenty of All-America timber on show in this game. Duke's Dan Hill is one of the finest centers who ever dug cleats in football turf.

Mad Marshall Goldberg, Pitt's great back who was held pretty much in check by the Blue Devils a year ago, will be back, and with him will be Dick Cassiano, Curly Stebbins, and Jack Chickerno.

But Duke also has backfield threats

Dartmouth, 'Ivy League' Champ, 10 To 6 Favorite Over Stanford

By JAMES A. SULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO—Dartmouth college's football team is a champion of the east's Ivy League. Stanford university's team is next to the bottom in the standings of the Pacific Coast conference.

The two meet tomorrow in one of the Far West's big games, and Dartmouth, beaten only once this year, is only a 10 to 6 favorite over the team that has lost six games and won but two this year.

Stanford's support comes from the showing the Indians of Palo Alto made last week in outplaying California, Rose Bowl contender, while losing by one touchdown.

The team Earl Blaik brought west has lost only one game in two years, that to Cornell this year. It depends on speedy backs working behind a light line, and if it isn't too hot tomorrow the boys who are accustomed to playing in rain, snow, and blizzards on their home lot, Blaik promises the west a glimpse of a new kind of eastern eleven, one that can win.

Two intrasession feuds also are on tomorrow's books. Oregon plays Oregon State and Washington plays Washington State.

The battle for the championship of the state of Oregon is a tossup, as the state university, snapping out of its slump last week in beating Washington, showed enough to merit equal consideration with the state college. Washington should win over Washington State, although "Babe" Hollingsbery's Cougars always shoot the works in this game.

The program, aside from these three games, is pretty thin. Santa Clara finishes its season Sunday in meeting Gus Dorais' University of Detroit team in a benefit game at Sacramento. Gonzaga plays Loyola the same day. Colorado plays Occidental, Whittier meets Tempe, and Los Angeles J. C. and Comp.

on J. C. tangle in Saturday engagements.

Many of the teams still in training played yesterday.

U.S.C. won the top battle, beating U.C.L.A., 42-7, in a runaway which gave U.S.C. with California for the conference title and an equal chance to win the Rose Bowl selection on which the 10 conference schools vote Monday.

College of Pacific captured the Far Western conference crown with a last-minute 20-13 win over Chico State. San Jose continued undefeated, maintaining the only spotless record in the far west, by beating Flagstaff Teachers of Arizona, 34-12. Fresno State finished its home season by beating Santa Barbara, 28-0.

ARMY, NAVY IN 39TH CONTEST

PHILADELPHIA—(U P)—Army and Navy coaches worried today over the weather conditions which prevented light drills for their charges preparatory to the 39th meeting of the service rivals at Municipal stadium tomorrow.

Both teams arrived in Philadelphia last night and members of each were cautious about making predictions on the possible outcome of the classic.

Capt. Bill Wood, Army's coach, said, "You know this is my first year playing the Navy as head coach and I'd rather love to win it. No, I'll make no predictions, but you can bet that it'll be a humdinger."

Lieut. Hank Hardwick, the Middle coach, asserted, "The team is in fine spirits and the Army is going to have its hands full beating us if it does. We've been rated the underdogs in some quarters and that's okay with us. It should be a close game."

The Cadets were quartered at the snow-covered Green Hill farms while the seagoing footballers dropped anchor at the Manufacturers' Country club, in suburban Oreland.

MAIL CARRIERS AID SEAL DRIVE

Mail carriers of Orange county today stepped into an active role in the fight against tuberculosis. They delivered 20,000 letters in various communities of the county, each containing gay Christmas Seals for use on holiday mail and packages.

Special Interest

Postal employees have a special interest in this year's Christmas Seals, as each sheet contains the picture of a member of their profession. Einar Holboell, the Danish postal clerk, who invented the idea of selling an extra stamp to raise funds for anti-tuberculosis work.

The story of this postal clerk was recounted today by Mrs. Edna Hewitt Crawford, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis & Health association, in explaining the special interest of the mail carriers here.

He Does Something!

"One December night in 1903," Mrs. Crawford said, "Einar Holboell was sorting stacks of Christmas cards and packages in a Copenhagen post office. As he toiled, his thoughts turned to poor children with tuberculosis. Suddenly he had an inspiration. Why could not the Christmas spirit be harnessed in a practical way to a great movement to fight the dread disease? Why not an extra stamp on every Yuletide greeting?

"Out of this vision came the tuberculosis Christmas Seal, sold first in Denmark in 1904 and now an international weapon in the fight against tuberculosis. The Seal idea was adopted in this country in 1907."

Thanksgiving Program

A well planned and impressive Thanksgiving Day program was enjoyed by Lathrop students the last hour of school Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Grace Wolff and Daniel Stover had charge of the occasion.

The school orchestra which is always a treat to the student body played several numbers. Kathryn Stockton and Bill Dart, presidents of the Every Girl's club and I. X. L. respectively, announced the numbers of the program.

The History of Thanksgiving was the theme of the day and readings and poems were given in carrying out this subject. Those taking parts were Eleanor Lawrence, Gayle Hawken, Virginia Michelson, Ruth Nelson and Gloria Miodick. The readings were interspersed by numbers sung by the Glee club which included "Song of Praise," "Home Sweet Home," and "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." James Bayless led the flag salute which was followed by group singing of "America."

Fathers and Daughters Banquet
The Lathrop fathers and daughters are anticipating a fine program as the mothers and sons had a week ago. Their program will be given on the evening of December 15, and already elaborate plans are under way for the happy occasion. A more definite program will be announced later.

Lathrop Library Enlarged
Lathrop students and teachers have a happy surprise awaiting them on their return to school next Monday to find the library enlarged by annexing the space of one entire classroom. This will make much more room so more than one class can be accommodated in the library.

at a time, besides the public. Miss Leona Calkins, librarian, announces the increase of several hundred new books which is proving a real thrill to the many students who watch the book shelves very regularly. During book week the students had a chance to see all the new books and make a reserve for one book per student. This was a very popular offer which was accepted by a large number of students.

Basketball Season

Over 80 boys are practicing regularly on basketball and the season is progressing with much enthusiasm. The B's and C's will go to Laguna on December 6 to play the Laguna high school team. Coach Archer is anticipating some fine work for the teams.

Enjoy School Night

Many interested parents accepted the P. T. A. invitation to "attend school" last Wednesday evening. They assembled in the auditorium where Principal Nelson directed them to their various classrooms. Each carried his child's daily program and many of them actually "found" their classes before the tardy bells rang. Many mothers wished, before the evening was over, to change their programs since they found too much exercise in included in dashing from metal shop to typing; then back to electric shop, etc. Class periods were seven minutes long during which time the teachers explained the type of work being done, and in many smaller classes there was an opportunity for parents and teachers to hold individual conferences. In spite of the excess exercise and complicated system of a rotating program, those present declared it a worthwhile evening, and are looking forward to another "school night" before the term is over.

BEAUTY SHOP IN SCHOOL
TOLEDO, O. (UP)—A school-maintained tearroom and beauty shop are to be used as training grounds for girls attending the new Macomber Vocational High school. The two shops are to be operated on a non-profit basis.

JOB HUNTER "HATES WORK"
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—An unnamed youth advertised in an Atlantic City newspaper: "Young man, 27, hates work. Desires easy job with short hours and large salary. Local references."

PLAYERS WORK HARD ON DRAMA

"Just by the reception accorded 'Accent on Youth' in New York, we feel certain that Santa Ana players will be equally enthusiastic when they see the Community Players' version of the drama in the auditorium on the nights of December 9 and 10," today declared Gladys Simpson Shafer, director for the Players.

Mrs. Shafer's opinion is shared by those who have followed rehearsals during the last three weeks. These rehearsals are held almost nightly in the home of Mrs. Charles A. Riggs, 901 Spurgeon street.

Enthusiasm Spreads
"Accent on Youth" requires only a small cast in comparison with earlier Players' productions. But all nine members are entering with enthusiasm into presenting Samuel Raphaelson's clever drama of December and May love. Miss Agnes Brady will have the lead role of "Linda Brown." John Colwell, who is also president of the association was persuaded to take another role, that of "Stephen Gaye," the playwright. Lois Rees Auer (Mrs. Leland Auer) whose association successes have included "The Bellamy Trial," "Lillom," "Enter Madame" and others, will appear as "Genevieve."

After various successes in Junior college productions, Joe Yocum will make his bow to a Community Players audience in the juvenile lead of "Dickie." Julia Ann Hyde, (Mrs. C. W. Hyde, Jr.), is essaying another of her clever character roles in the part of "Miss Darling."

A character role also is being played by Harold Fish as "Flogdell," the perfect "gentlemen's gentleman." James Hathcock will assume the role of "Frank Galloway," a middle-aged actor. "The stand-by" is the title unanimously accorded Avery Johnson by Players, for he is always ready to take a part, no matter how few its lines. One of his clever character roles will come in the new play in his part as "Chuck." A companion part of "Chuck" will be played by James Doyle, new to the Players, but a veteran from the standpoint of T.H. High school and Santa Ana Junior college plays.

Tickets for "Accent on Youth" are to go on sale Monday at Santa Ana Book store. Patrons who wish to secure season tickets, may do so and insure getting to see the two remaining major productions of the season and the annual Southern California tournament of one act plays to be given in April.

LINEMAN MEETS ISSUE
RHEIN, Sask., (UP)—Dave Graz, telephone lineman, had to fight to do his work. He was instructed to remove a number of rural telephones because of unpaid bills. Five hardened farmers fought him on the issue.

DEATH STRIKES SWIFTLY WHEN HOME OF ELDERLY COUPLE GOES

Editor's Note: Here is the last of a series of articles that have been printed in The Register in behalf of the American Red Cross in Santa Ana and Orange County. The story typifies the work of the institution in all parts of the world.

The following story indicates the type of aid the Red Cross gives to families who suffer during a disaster. This incident occurred in Southern California in the spring flood.

Some months before the flood, an aged couple built an attractive three room cottage near a canal and established themselves successfully raising chickens.

Swept To Her Death
The night of the flood, the old couple took care of their chickens, never thinking the rising water could affect their home. When the water entered the house they became alarmed. As the woman rushed into the house to save some precious mementoes the house was swept from its foundation into the raging torrent and battered to bits against the steel bridge 300 feet away. Friends restrained the man from leaping into the maelstrom to rescue his wife.

Saddened by the death of his wife and discouraged over the loss of all property, including the chickens, without income and burdened by age, the man turned to the Red Cross to help him plan to rebuild a home to which his widowed daughter and her child could come and help him re-establish the chicken business, the income from which,

NEW POST FOR MWD OFFICIAL

With heavy construction work on the main line of the Colorado river aqueduct now almost completed, J. L. Burkholder today announced his resignation as assistant general manager of the Metropolitan Water district.

Recognized Expert
Reporting directly to F. E. Weymouth, general manager and chief engineer, Burkholder for the past six years has been in direct charge of all construction work on the 242-mile main line of the giant aqueduct from its intake on the Colorado river to its main storage basin, the Cajalco reservoir. He is recognized to be one of America's foremost engineering executives in the field of waterworks construction and operation.

In announcing his resignation from the district, Burkholder stated that he is assuming new duties as chief of the division of engineering, American section, International Boundary commission, with headquarters at El Paso, Texas.

Boundary commission, with headquarters at El Paso, Texas.

Irrigation Engineer
For a number of years Burkholder was engaged in engineering and construction work with the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation. At the time he was retained by the Metropolitan Water district, in 1932, he was chief engineer of the New Mexico Conservancy district, in charge of the development and building of large irrigation projects in New Mexico.
